Dulles Warns Communists On Continuing Aggression

RESCUE LIFEGUARDS. Anything can happen in a heat wave, as indicated by this picture, which finds girl swimmers coming to the rescue of lifeguards who for days have been sizzling in the sun at a New York City beach. With the temperature continuing in the not-so-gay nineties, the young women pour buckets of cold water on the guards. They are Jane Rhodes and Frances Kirschner. Enjoying the refreshing shower are guards Richard Palazzi and John Thierjung.

Torrid Wave Still Burning Eastern U.S.

Soaring Heat Deaths Pass 50; Farmers Face Big Crop Loss

By The Associated Press

A prolonged heat wave, following weeks of hot and dry weather, showed no signs of a letup today in wide areas in the eastern half of the nation.

The damage from the summer's unseasonable weather, with no heavy rains in many areas, was widespread.

At Least 50 Dead

The death toll attributed to the current heat wave mounted to at least 50. Thousands have been treated for heat prostration.

Damage to crops in several states appeared soaring into the millions of dollars. In Missouri alone, officials estimated the farm income loss from drought would total 150 million dollars.

In Iowa, one of the leading corn states, a Farm Bureau official said the hot weather of the last week alone had cut the state's prospective corn yield by at least 15 per cent. Corn damage also was reported in Illinois, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Indiana and Ohio

No Relief Predicted

No general relief from the hot and sticky weather was predicted for the bulk of the area enveloped in the hot air mass.

Some cool air moved into northern parts of Minnesota. It was to move slowly across northern sections of Wisconsin, Michigan and Iowa by tomorrow.

But hot and humid weather was predicted for today and tomorrow for areas south and east of the slowly advancing cooler air mass. And in Washington, the Weather Bureau forecast hot and dry weather was the outlook for the northeast part of the country during September.

Temperature records toppled again yesterday in nearly every section of the swelter-belt. It was the same in many cities yesterday as it has been for more than a week—readings in the high 90s and in some cities above 100.

The hot weather has slowed business in some areas but no general slackening was reported.

Farmers Worried

Farmers were worried about the lack of rainfall as they surveyed brown pastures and lean livestock.

May Launch War, Legion Group Hears

West Would Fight China if Far East Is Invaded, He Says

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles solemnly warned the Communist world today that Red Chinese aggression against Korea or Indochina might provoke war by the West against China itself.

In doing so, he appeared to be laying down a new government policy of telling potential aggressors in advance where the United States will fight to protect its security.

No Longer Sanctuary

The Chinese Communists must now realize, he said, that "they could no longer count" on the "privileged sanctuary" of Manchurian air and supply bases in the event they renew aggression against South Korea.

As for Indochina, the secretary noted in a foreign policy speech prepared for the American Legion Convention that Communist China is training, equipping and supplying Communist rebels in Indochina.

Dulles then declared:

"There is the risk that, as in Korea, Red China might send its own army into Indochina. The Chinese Communist regime should realize that such a second aggression could not occur without grave consequences which might not be confined to Indochina.

Warning to Aggressor

"I say this soberly in the interest of peace and in the hope of preventing another aggressor miscalculation."

Dulles told the veterans the Korean War has taught the United States "a lesson which we expect to apply in the interest of future peace." The lesson, he said, is this:

"If events are likely which will in fact lead us to fight, let us make clear our intention in advance; then we shall probably not have to fight."

Can't Go On

He said many informed people think that both World War II and the Korean conflict came about because the aggressors miscalculated the thought that the Americans would not fight.

The Korean fighting has established, he said, that "aggressors hostile to the free world cannot go on enlarging themselves by the

THIS IS WAY TO SEE A PARADE. Leave it to the kids to find how to enjoy a parade. First step is to lose your parents as this youngster did in St. Louis during the mammoth American Legion parade. Then someone is sure to pick the youngster up, as this legionnaire did, buy him some pop and hold him up to watch the parade which was witnessed by an estimated one million persons, who waited in 90-degree heat for the 10-hour-long march through flag-bedecked downtown St. Louis.

Reds in Rubber Industry Under Probe in State

Ohio's Un-American Activities Commission Calls Four To Testify

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Un-American Activities Commission summoned four witnesses to testify today at a hearing on Communist attempts to infiltrate the heart of America's rubber industry in Akron.

Commission attorneys named the witnesses as Christian U. Probst of Akron and his wife, Mae; Vani Mitri of Akron and Ralph J.Kerns of Cuyahoga Falls.

Mrs. Probst was a Farmer-Labor candidate for state representative in 1936.

Willing Witness

Sidney Isaacs of Cincinnati, commission counsel, said the witnesses are former Communists who quit the Reds of their own accord. All are under subpena but agreed in advance to testify, Isaacs said.

He said the witnesses would reveal the extent of Communist attempts from 1936 to 1948 to infiltrate the war-vital rubber industry cenetred in Akron. None of the witnesses has testified previously at similar hearings, he added

The hearing is the first one open to the public since the 100th General Assembly extended the life of the commission to next Jan. 31 After that date, the Ohio attorney general's office will take over commission activities under a new law passed over Gov. Frank J Lasuche's veto. The law outlawing the Communist Party in Ohio becomes effective Nov. 7.

Sixth Hearing

The commission has conducted five closed hearings since the Legislature extended its life. The for

Ike Answers Iran's Urgent Appeal for Aid

Sympathetic Study Promised in Letter To Premier Zahedi

FRASER, Colo. (AP)—President Eisenhower has assured the new government of Iran "sympathetic" American consideration of its urgent appeal for financial aid.

In another move obviously designed to win Iran to the Western world and away from any alignment with the Soviet Union, the President last night made public a message to Premier Zahedi of Iran promising immediate study of that nation's economic crisis.

Pledges Cooperation

Eisenhower, in a message dated Aug. 26 in reply to Zahedi's of the same day, told the Premier:

"In an effort to assist you in dealing with your immediate problems, I have authorized my ambassador to Iran to consult with you regarding the development of our aid programs there.

"I recognize that your needs are pressing. Your request will receive our sympathetic consideration and I can assure you that we stand ready to assist you in achieving the aspirations of your country which you have outlined."

No Specific Total

Eisenhower's message, made public at his vacation headquarters here, mentioned no specific amount of financial assistance this country might provide. Zahedi mentioned no figure, either, but did say the aid Iran now is receiving from the United States is inadequate to tide his nation over its financial crisis.

The Premier added:

"The treasury is empty; foreign exchange resources are exhausted: the national economy is deteriorated; Iran needs immediate financial aid to enable it to emerge from a state of economic and financial chaos."

Iranian newspapers speculated the new U.S aid might amount to 100 million dollars. In Washington, reports put the figure at about 30 million.

Second Message

The Eisenhower letter to Zahedi was the President's second message to Iranian officials since the Aug. 19 royalist overthrow of the government of deposed Premier Mossadegh.

Last week Eisenhower made public a message congratulating Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi on his return to power. The Shah had said on Aug 23 that his government was broke, needed aid immediately, and was willing to accept it from any country—including Russia.

Eisenhower's pledge of sympathetic consideration to Zahedi was disclosed a few hours after the President decided to extend his vacation here by 24 hours.

Thermometer Reaches 96 as City Swelters

Hot and humid weather continued today as Marion entered its ninth day of 90-degree temperatures

The high of 96 recorded yesterday equalled Sunday's high temperature reading, thus tying for the second hottest day of the year.

The season's high was 98, recorded on June 20.

At 10 a.m. here today, the mercury reading was 87 and in some sections of the state the mercury was expected to climb to between 96 and 102.

Forecast for tonight is "fair with lowest temperatures between 66 and 72, while Thursday is to be partly cloudy and hot, with scattered afternoon thundershowers likely."

Outlook for Ohio: Hot Until Friday

By The Associated Press

Sweltering temperatures bore down on Ohioans again today with no immediate relief in sight from a week of temperatures crowding or passing the 100-degree mark.

It was a "more of the same" forecast—at least until Friday—and the deaths of two persons in the Cleveland area were attributed to the heat.

Leon Hilty, 42, and Thomas Jones, 70, both succumbed. Officials said both deaths probably were caused by hot weather.

The Columbus weather bureau predicted a high of 96-102 today.

From one end of the state to the other, yesterday was a scorcher. In downtown Portsmouth thermometers zoomed to 107. The day before it was 105 and Sunday it hit 103.

Cincinnati registered a high of 102, Toledo and Lancaster 100, and Springfield 99. In Columbus the mercury hovered at 99.

Springfield, Dayton and other Miami Valley cities faced critical water shortages. But it was the farmer who really worried. In some south-central areas they had to haul water for livestock as their pastures and crops suffered.

'Big Switch' Goes On

Returned GI Total Hits 3,000 With 300 Yet To Go

PANMUNJOM (AP) — Another 100 happy Americans rolled through Freedom Gate today, bringing to 3,027 the number of U. S. soldiers freed by the Communists as the Korean War prisoner exchange neared an end.

These other developments highlighted the 29th day of Operation Big Switch:

1. A returning officer said 75 Americans who "confessed" to germ warfare charges under relentless Red pressure would be repatriated soon. He said the men, mostly officers, were at Kaesong, the Communist holding point north of Panmunjom, and all expect to be repatriated.

6th Troopship Sails

2. The sixth troopship carrying liberated Americans sailed for the United States from Inchon on Korea's west coast. With 440 men aboard, the transport Gen. Black is due in San Francisco about Sept. 15.

3. An American corporal, said to be marked for death by other returning prisoners because he betrayed them to the Reds, was reported to have disappeared from a Tokyo Army hospital. The soldier identified only as "Slick," was freed three weeks ago and had been sent as a medical case to the hospital.

Claim Interviews Rugged

4. The U. N. Command, in an usual announcement, accused the Communists of rigging interviews between Allied POWs and visiting Red Cross teams. The announcement quoted a returned Australian officer as saying the Reds told him that he would not be repatriated unless he gave "proper answers" to Red Cross workers.

Smiling and apparently in good health, 41 officers and 59 sergeants made up the 100 Americans returned Wednesday. The reds held up delivery of the Americans until after 150 South Koreans were returned

More May Come

In all, the Communists turned back 100 Americans and 200 South Koreans Wednesday and promised to deliver Thursday 89 Americans, 200 Koreans, 5 British and 6 Canadians.

Including Wednesday's delivery, 11,716 Allied prisoners have been freed. Before the exchange started, the Reds said they held 12,782 POWs, but have since indicated they would return more than that number. They said these would include an undisclosed number of men captured in the last days of the war.

According to the original Red figure, 286 Americans are yet to be returned, but this number probably will be exceeded.

One of the Americans returned Wednesday learned for the first time that he had won the nation's highest award—the Medal of Honor—for bravery the night he was captured two years ago.

Officer Overcome

He was Lt. James L. Stone of Hot Springs, Ark., who sat with tears in his eyes as he was told of the award by Brig. Gen Ralph Osborne, 8th Army officer in charge of repatriation.

His voice choked with emotion. Stone told the general, "I don't know what to say I don't think I deserve that. I don't think I should have it."

Truman Will Appear On TV Show Sept. 20

NEW YORK (AP)—Variety, the entertainment industry trade paper, reported today that former President Harry Truman will make his first commercial television appearance Sept 20 and will be paid about $8,000.

The report said he will appear on "Excursion," a Ford Foundation program over NBC aimed at younger folk, to discuss opportunities in America and the Point 4 program to aid underdeveloped nations.

GOP Leader Irked

Ike Saved by Democrats? 'Bunk,' Claims Ferguson

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) accused Democratic leaders today of spreading "bunk" and "trying to ride the President's coattails" toward Democratic capture of Congress next year.

Ferguson, newly elected chairman of the Republican Policy Committee in the Senate, said some Democrats are using "false and misleading information in saying their votes 'saved' President Eisenhower's program."

His statement was obviously in reply to one issued over the weekend by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex), the Senate minority leader. Johnson said most of the President's program which passed at the last session did so because of Democratic support.

Ferguson called no names in his blast at Democratic party leaders, whose statements he termed "just bunk." He declared that "Republicans in the 83rd Congress gave overwhelming support to the Eisenhower administration."

He issued through his office here his analysis of Senate voting in this year's session. Ferguson, who is up for re-election next year, is on a speaking tour in Michigan, and planned to use some of the material in the statement at a speech today in Gaylord.

"The Democrats are using this

Farm Bureau To Be Directed By Schertzer

George W. Schertzer has been named manager of the Marion County Farm Bureau Co-Operative Association effective Sept. 10. He succeeds Kenneth Frayer, who submitted his resignation last week after being manager for the last year.

Announcement of the management change was made this morning by Robert Eisele, president of the association. A successor to Schertzer, who has been organizational director of the Farm Bureau for nearly two years, has not been chosen as yet.

Schertzer, before joinging the Farm Bureau staff, had farmed in Marion County for nine years and before that had been engaged in sales work for 11 years.

Active in Marion civic and church activities, Schertzer during the last year served as county chairman of the Religion in American Life campaign and as county chairman of the CROP (Christian Rural Overseas Program) campaign. In addition, he is a member of the civic affairs committee of the Marion Chamber of Commerce.

An active lay leader in the Methodist Church, he has served as district lay leader and on conference boards in the Ohio area. He is a member of the Wesley Methodist Church.

He and Mrs. Schertzer reside at 458 Forest St. and have a son, Donald, and a daughter, Ruth. Donald graduated last year from Green Camp High School and plans to enroll at Ohio State University this fall. Ruth taught school last year.

Frayer's plans for the future are indefinite.

Adenauer Gets Set To Battle Red Terrorism

Communists Bent on Breaking Up Crucial Elections in Germany

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and 4,039 other West German candidates roared full steam into the political home stretch today as the government readied top secret plans against Red terror attacks on next Sunday's crucial elections.

Both Adenauer and his chief opponent, Socialist Erich Ollenhauer, headed their campaigns for the key Ruhr industrial section. Its vote could decide whether the West-allied Chancellor's three-party government coalition beats back the strong threat of the isolationist Socialists to control Parliament's new lower house.

Huge Field

The huge field of candidates is campaigning for 484 legislative seats. The others must decide whether the majority will be filled by persons pledged to Adenauer's program to rearm Germany in alliance with the West or to the Socialist platform of going it alone between East and West

Resigned to the certain voting defeat their relatively few cohorts in West Germany face, the Kremlin's East German satellites have poured thousands of Red agents across the winding 600-mile East-West frontier.

Nab 4,500 Agents

After nabbing some 4,500 of the Red agents, Adenauer's government said they were pledged to a terror campaign of political killings and attacks on voting booths.

The government's tough border police already were fully mobilized against the invasion, but officials said thousands were believed to have slipped through.

At least three nabbed agents told police they had been ordered to kill West German political leaders. Others said they were told to storm voting booths, destroy ballot boxes and frighten voters away from the polls.

The government kept secret its plans to combat those who had slipped through the border defenses.

Noted Violinist, 41 Others Dead In Plane Crash

French Airliner Hits High Peak in Alps; Jacques Thibaud Dies

NICE, France (AP) — An Orient-bound French airliner crashed in flames late last night on the side of a 10,000-foot Alpine peak, killing France's most famous violinist, Jacques Thibaud, and 41 other persons.

The giant four - engined Air France plane was on a regularly-scheduled flight to Saigon and Hong Kong when it smashed near the towering summit of Mt. Cemet, in southeast France 100 miles north of this Riviera resort.

None Survives

Rescue workers who reached the scene after toiling more than five hours up the steep mountain slopes reported there were no survivors among the 33 passengers and 9 crew members. Wreckage was scattered over 1,500 feet of the mountain side.

Air France officials could give no cause for the crash, which occurred only an hour and a half after the big plane left Paris's Orly Field. They said messages from the pilot had reported all was well and the weather was good.

List Includes Children

Rescue crews reported the temperature on the mountain side was below freezing but the weather otherwise was perfect.

Airline officials said the passengers included four Indochinese, one Swiss and a man believed to be a German. The rest apparently were French. Among the passengers

Burglar Foiled In Looting Try By 'Watchdog'

An electronic "watchdog" put a halt to attempts of a would-be burglar to loot a juke-box in Yost's Restaurant at Kenton Ave. and Fountain St. last night.

Hubert Yost, manager of the restaurant, called Sheriff Glen Obenour at 2:15 a.m. today to report the break-in. He said he and Mrs. Yost were awakened around 2 a.m. by noise of crashing glass coming to them in their home nearby over a communications system from the restaurant.

When he arrived at the restaurant, Yost said he saw a man attempting to get money from a juke-box. Seeing Yost, he fled through a side window. He apparently gained entry by cutting through a screen and breaking the glass of the window.

Yost told the sheriff that he ran after the man had fired two warning shots with a shotgun but the man got in a "dark colored car with two tail-lights."

In the meantime, an out-of-town truck driver and his companion circled around the restaurant and noticed two men standing near the building. As the truck driver pulled away he heard the sound of glass. The two truckers notified

Plane Missing In Northwest, 21 GI's Aboard

SEATTLE (AP)—Late and wrapped in a blanket of clouds that lay like a shroud over its course, a military-chartered plane with 21 or 22 soldiers and two civilians aboard vanished somewhere in the Pacific Northwest last night.

The twin-engine Regina Airlines craft left Monterey, Calif., at 1:40 p.m. and last was heard from over Portland, Ore., 5 hours and 48 minutes later.

Eight Minutes Overdue

It then was eight minutes overdue at McChord Air Force Base, Tacoma, with its load of soldiers from Ft. Ord, Calif., but the pilot made no mention of being in in trouble.

Its next scheduled report point was at Toledo, Wash., 65 miles north of Portland and about halfway to McChord, but no radio contact ever was made there.

U.S. Employes Plan To Battle For Job Rights

WASHINGTON (AP)—Several hundred career government workers plan a fight for job rights they say have been taken from them in a drive to cut down the federal payroll.

Some 300 of them have formed a new organization in an attempt to get President Eisenhower to guarantee them jobs somewhere in the government when curtailments eliminate the positions they have been holding.

By next June, government officials estimate, a total of 180,000 positions will be eliminated to cut expenses.

The majority are supposed to come from the ranks of temporary employes, but an unknown number of career workers already have been let out by blanket reductions.

"They are mostly little people," says Mrs. Katherine Crowley, secretary of the new "Federal Civil Service Separated Career Employes Assn." She said she lost her job as a government attorney last July after 22 years' service.

These people lose civil service protection when their positions are eliminated, Mrs. Crowley said other departments so far have refused to make room for career workers, as they might do by eliminating their own temporary employes.

"What we want is an executive order giving career workers preference on jobs for which they are suited," she added.

Civil service officials said the established procedure provides for this now, but it is not required by law. They added the cutback program is too new to determine how all career workers will be treated.

Home Rule Charter Speakers Talk At Group Meetings

Advantages of a home rule charter form of government for Marion will be explained at small group meetings rather than in large public meetings, members of the Non-Partisan Home Rule Study Committee have decided.

J. E. Oliphant, chairman, said this decision was made because it was felt people could be reached more efficiently through small group meetings with service clubs, fraternal and civic organizations.

He reported 15 persons have been selected by the committee candidates for election to a Home Rule Charter Commission. If elected, commission members will be responsible for drafting a city charter.

Names of these candidates will be announced when approved for submission to the voters by the Marion County Board of Elections, he added. All have agreed to run for election if approved, Oliphant said.

Any number of candidates to the charter commission may be placed on the ballot if approved by the Board of Elections. From the candidates 15 will be declared elected if the question, "Shall a commission be formed to frame a city charter?" is also approved by the voters.

Once elected, the commission would have the task of drafting the charter and presenting it to the voters for election or rejection within one year from the time of their election.

Oliphant announced today that Robert Kelly has been named chairman of the speaker's bureau of the study group. This bureau will furnish speakers for the small group meetings to explain the home rule charter form of government.

An anticipated enrollment of about 380 pupils will return to Caledonia School Tuesday for the new school year. As in other county schools, Tuesday will be a half-day session. Full classes start Wednesday.

Because of the increase in enrollment, it has been necessary to divide the first grade into two sections. The first four grades will meet in the new building. The second four and high school will hold classes in the old school.

The cafeteria will begin serving lunches on Wednesday at 25 cents. Students may buy lunch tickets for five days or daily.

Faculty members this year are: Mrs. Phyllis Martin, kindergarten; Mrs. Milan Gorby, first grade; Mrs. Leonard Walls, first grade; Mrs. Monnie Williams, second grade, Mrs. Eleanor Fichtner, third grade; Mrs. Birdie Adams, fourth grade; Mrs. Edna Kennedy, fifth grade; Mrs. Josephine Walter, sixth grade; Mrs. Louise Laibe, social studies and home economics; Mrs. Ruth Prettyman, commercial subjects, Jacob Retterer, math and science; Mrs. Eunice Boyd, English and speech; Norman Underwood, vocational agriculture; Leonard Walls, physical education and social studies; Milan Gorby, biological science and physical education; and Mrs. Eleanor Showers, music.

C. D. Pilkington is the supervisor at Caledonia. Walter Lindsay is secretary, and Kester Rice is custodian.

In charge of the cafeteria are Mrs. Mabel Dice and Mrs. Ruth Mennough. Driving the school buses this year are Wilford and Charles Kaelber, Robert Irey and Henry Reamsnyder.

State Auditor Denies Checks 'Political Ads'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Auditor James A. Rhodes said last night he was in line with Ohio government custom when he sent out "dummy" checks bearing sesquicentennial greetings to Ohio's common pleas judges.

But Judge D. Deane McLaughlin of Canton had a different story. He called the checks "political advertisements at state expense."

Judge McLaughlin returned his greeting-card check to Rhodes and told the auditor he didn't "wish to contribute xxx to your campaign for a higher political office."

Rhodes said the checks made out to Ohio citizens and worth "1,000,000,000 good wishes," were issued for the state fair and sesquicentennial celebrations.

"All state officials from the governor down" put out similar material at state expense, Rhodes said.

The checks went to all common pleas judges with their regular salary checks, which the auditor's office distributes.

They were headed "From the office of the auditor of state, honesty, service, Columbus, Ohio. Will pay from the general fund of good government."

Rhodes, a Republican, said McLaughlin, a Democrat, meant the return of the check as a political attack.

Architects Hired For Building Plan At Bucyrus Schools

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS — The architectural firm of McLaughlin and Keil of Lima was hired this week by the Bucyrus City school board to draw up plans for a proposed $400,000 school building addition program.

The board, meeting in special session Monday night, also hired the law firm of Squire, Saunders and Dempsey of Cleveland to handle the legal work connected with the $400,000 bond issue.

The school board decided last month to submit a bond issue to the voters at the November election following a survey of the city's schools made by Prof. John E. Gee of Bowling Green State University. Dr. Gee recommended eight additional rooms at the city's five grade schools.

ENJOY THE FIGHTS TONIGHT AT THE RITZ BAR AND GRILL . . .
Tonight Randy Sandy, of New York, and Ernie Durando, of Bayonne, N. J., will clash in a 10-round middleweight bout. Sandy, a strapping six-footer, is wise in ring warfare despite having had only 14 professional fights. He has a victory over veteran Lee Sala to his credit. Durando is an important middleweight contender with 53 bouts behind him. He kayoed Castellani and won a decision over Norman Hays. Durando is reputed to have the best right-hand punch in the middleweight class. Our prediction is Durando to win the contest.

While watching the fight, order a tasty Pizza Pie and a cold glass of your favorite Beer or Wine.

It's good to be missed

Now that Schlitz is again available everywhere, orders are pouring in at an unheard of rate No such flood of orders has ever been seen in the history of this or any other brewery.

Absence has made the heart grow fonder Based on the orders on hand for Schlitz, the most popular beer in history is destined to become even more popular than ever.

The power behind these orders is the pent-up demand of the American people for the brand they know and like best—a beer so fine it made a city famous.

This is the public's response to Schlitz quality after ten long weeks of absence. It's good to know you've been missed

The reason is that Schlitz has given more satisfaction to more people than any other beer in the world

Needless to say, The Beer that Made Milwaukee Famous will continue to meet the high standards you yourself have set for the finest beer obtainable.

Schlitz takes this opportunity to thank our millions and millions of friends, our wholesalers and dealers.

There's no doubt about it—if you like beer, you'll love Schlitz —America's largest selling beer.

The 64 Billion Dollar Question

With the utmost sympathy for the hundreds being fired by Foreign Aid Director Stassen and equal sympathy for all taxpayers, some of us would like to add a question to the aptitude test which helped Mr. Stassen to separate the goats from the sheep in his department.

It is our idea—as journeymen taxpayers—that aptitude for piddling away financial resources can be tested just as postively as aptitudes for anything else. We think a key question should be slipped into every aptitude test designed to reflect the fitness of federal employes.

The question can be taken directly from Franklin D. Roosevelt's now classical statement that the federal debt — representing the difference between what the federal spenders dared to collect and wanted to spend—is "money we owe to ourselves."

This was supposed to take the blight off deficit spending. It opened wide the gates for the fantastic profligacy which whooped federal spending from less than 5 billion dollars in 1933 to 75 billion in 1953. Even before World War II began, the federal debt had been doubled and trebled, with some to spare.

The question: Do you believe you are going to be able to collect the federal debt you owe yourself if you keep on adding to it?

Escalator Going Down

Every time a minority of wage earners can claim an increase because the consumer price index has gone up, a majority of non-favored wage earners can expect a decrease in living standards.

With no way to hitch their earnings to cheaper money, their buying power must diminish.

The peak reached by the consumer price index last June—114.7—is twice what the same index would have shown in 1934, had it been in use then. Thereafter, the index began to rise. With minor fluctuations, it has gone up steadily ever since.

Its highest point during World War II was 76.9, in 1945. It reached 113.5 in 1952. It will stand at a higher point for 1953—probably one full point higher.

The index is not a guide to what consumers actually spend. It only reflects what would happen to their spending power if all consumers bought all the items covered by the index. A corresponding statistic from the Bureau of Labor Statistics shows fluctuations in spending power.

The purchasing power of the dollar stood at an index of 130 in 1945, at the end of World War II. It now is perilously close to dropping under 80.

This has meant a drastic shrinking of buying power on the part of wage earners whose incomes have not been adjusted to the cheapening of money. For every escalator that goes up, in other words, there has been an escalator somewhere going down.

Conditioned Reflex

Edward Hunter, who first used "brain-washing" to describe the indoctrination of human beings by Communists, has a helpful slant on this much-discussed process.

The idea, he reveals, came to him from a Chinese phrase which means "brain-washing." He first encountered it while living in the Far East and realized it was a pat description of the process by which Communists rearrange the "truth" in their victims' minds.

The secret is to combine physical and mental disturbance until the victim becomes so confused and desperate he will accept the Communist doctrine as a substitute for what he previously believed to be the truth. Hunger, terror, illness, bitterness, despair and utter futility—these are the sources of Communist mischief throughout the world.

All that the men in the Kremlin have learned how to do is to create by design — as behaviorists — what starvation, oppression, sub-standard living conditions and a desire for revenge have created accidentally.

No Others Need Apply

Attorney General Brownell was explaining to U.S. News & World Report recently why few Communists will turn up on the federal payroll from now on.

Since it is dismally certain that they turned up on the payroll in the past because they were put there and kept there by political cronies, Mr. Brownell's views are timely.

He explained the working of new rules and procedures for getting rid of subversives when they are spotted and for keeping them from getting their noses under the tent. But he counted most heavily, he explained, on what he called "the deterrent effect."

In other words, subversives now know they are not welcome in the federal government. The ax is out for all people who want to overthrow the government of the United States by force. The subversives know this and know that if they're spotted they will be chopped down without ceremony.

It makes a tremendous difference. It would have made a tremendous difference starting in 1933 and coming up through the thirties and forties if the Roosevelt and Truman administrations had served notice that only loyal Americans were wanted on the federal payroll—no others need apply.

Fascism in NLRB

By David Lawrence

Agency Should Be Above Politics in Democracy

More important than the current news of strikes, more important than the palaver about "thought control" and the loss of civil liberties, and more important than the outcry about "witch hunts" is the 20-year trend in America toward the Fascist concept of government control of the relations between employers and employes.

A brief news item that tells of a pivotal development in that field of governmental activity got inconspicuous attention last Saturday, largely because its significance is not apparent on the surface.

The item, as reported by the United Press, said:

"Guy Farmer, Eisenhower-elected chairman of the National Labor Relations Board, fired his fourth-in-a-row dissent today against decisions handed down by holdover members.

"His action was taken to indicate the board will make a basic shift in interpreting the Taft-Hartley labor-management law when the administration acquires a majority of the five seats on the National Labor Relations Board. This is expected soon.

"An NLRB source, noting Farmer's ruling said, 'This signals an important change in policy.'

"The change-over is expected as soon as President Eisenhower fills the one remaining board vacancy to give the Republicans a three-to-two majority."

The country would be shocked if it read a news item saying the circuit court of appeals in a given area or perhaps the Supreme Court of the United States would change its decisions as soon as a new political party came into power. Yet that is the meaning which can be given to the prospective change in so-called judicial decisions by a labor board which is expected soon to have a 3-to-2 Republican majority.

It is just as wrong for the Republicans to dominate the board as it was for the Democrats.

The whole concept of government regulation of the minute details of employer-employe relations is illogical in a democracy where individual freedom is supposed to be sacrosanct.

The same fundamental mistake which was introduced by the Wagner Act and which has been retained in the Taft-Hartley Act has brought "a government of men and not of laws."

Congress wrote into both laws certain vague phrases of regulation which the labor board has been interpreting in accordance with the ideological predilections of the board members.

President Roosevelt and his successor President Truman "packed" the labor board with a majority of partisans — this was the price the labor unions exacted in exchange for their contributions and support of the Democratic party in political campaigns.

Then the board went on to make rulings which have approximated the Fascism that Italy experienced under Mussolini.

Freedom of speech, supposedly guaranteed to everybody by the Constitution, was taken away from employers under the Wagner Act. They couldn't even assemble their employes in the shop and talk to them in free America about problems of mutual interest.

The Taft-Hartley Act was intended to correct this, but now some pro - labor senators are talking about going back to the stringent rule of the Wagner law.

One wonders how the coercion erals" can justify their conspicuous silence on the infringement of freedom of speech which the labor board has perpetrated in its long line of decisions.

One wonders ow the coercio and intimidation so widely practiced by union organizers can be condoned as a "right" of trade unionism and as a corollary of compulsory collective bargaining.

That's what the labor board decisions for a long time upheld until some correctives came under the Taft-Hartley Act.

No labor board of transient membership is likely to win the respect of either employers or employes.

If the Congress will prescribe legislative standards and write them clearly, with a minimum of regulation, the federal courts are competent to interpret the meaning of the phrases in the law.

Life-appointed judges on the federal bench can do a better job of construing the law than can labor board members whose tenure nowadays coincides more or less with the term of the political party in power. Many cases have wound up in the federal courts, anyway.

Time would be saved and basic precedents more quickly established if the labor board became solely administrative and the courts alone dealt with the judicial problems arising under the law of labor-management relations.

Relief From Federal Drain on States

By Raymond Moley

SANTA BARBARA

Harold J. Laski — whose commitment to Marxism was so extreme that even the Attlee government found him a liability—had a habit during his many trips to the United States of telling pop-eyed academic audiences what should be done about America.

The essential theme was always socialism. In one of his discussions he stressed the importance of federal grants-in-aid to the states. These, he concluded, are fundamental to the idea of a "national minimum."

That, I believe, is a piece of jargon meaning the extent to which the central government should take over. The "national minimum," Laski said, "lies at the heart of socialism."

This point of view toward federal expansion runs through all Socialist propaganda. For, to make socialism effective, it must be at the national level.

The most certain way to eliminate the states is to bribe them with federal grants, the money for which is raised by stealing the tax sources of the states. A nation of kept states must be necessary prelude to a nation of kept citizens.

The extent to which the states in the past few years have been reduced to the "kept" status is shown by the growth of grants-in-aid.

In T.R.'s first term the federal government gave only $3,000,000 to the states. In 1912 this had risen to $5,255,000.

Then came the federal income tax, innocently contrived by both Democrats and Republicans, but with the malignant power within its limitless reach to destroy all private property.

Grants - in - aid proliferated. In 1920 they were $33,188,000. After 1933 the march really got under way. In 1941 grants-in-aid were $836,682,000. In 1951 they were $2,280,000,000.

Those grants per capita show a tremendous variation among states. They ranged in 1951 from $7.03 per capita in New Jersey to $48.99 in Wyoming.

Social welfare grants have become the greatest purpose of these expenditures.

A few of these grants are for purposes for which the federal government should bear the primary responsibility, such as care and assistance for veterans.

There are also some things, such as conservation of natural resources, highways, and agriculture, that are joint federal - state responsibilities. But three-fourths of the money spent in these grants are for purposes for which the states should have responsibility.

The states must beg for this aid because the federal government has invaded the tax sources from which the states ought to get the money to help themselves.

Candidate Eisenhower made a point, over and over, in his 1952 campaign that these functions, together with the tax sources to support them, should go back to the states. In fact, this is a cardinal principle of his philosophy.

Eisenhower is firmer in his determination to accomplish this restoration than was Sen. Taft who, it should be remembered, was sponsor for projects for aid to education and housing.

Pursuant to his promise, he President secured from Congress authorization for a commission to make a comprehensive study of the subject.

As chairman of that commission, the President has Clarence Manion, former dean of the Law School of Notre Dame University.

Manion's position toward federal super - government has been made very clear in many speeches and articles.

He firmly believes that the wide highway to socialism is through the progressive encroachment by the federal government upon the resources and responsibilities of the states.

He can be counted on to be as aggressive in this field as Herbert Hoover will be in the wider field to which he has been assigned.

Together — for in many ways their lines will cross in these twin investigations—they should constitute a good team to pull back the federal government from the areas which it has occupied in these past four decades.

Symbol in a Little Chapel

By MARK DANA

Almost every American military installation, however small or isolated, includes a chapel, and most posts have chaplains. It is American military traditon that men in uniform have ready reference to facilities and counselors for their spiritual welfare, and in theory there is no stress on dogma, no bias in matters of faith and denomination. Most military chapels serve Protestant, Catholic, Jewish and other devotees.

Emphasis upon this inter-faith comity has been dramatized anew by erection of a U. S. Army chapel in Heilbronn, Germany. The altar is built of three stones, taken from war-ruined Protestant and Catholic churches and a Jewish synagog.

The symbolism of this place of worship, known as the "Chapel of the Three Stones," has a particular significance in Germany which, perhaps more than other European countries, for centuries has known bitter and sometimes bloody strife in the name of religion. Such an object lesson in Germany, set up by the American occupational forces of various creeds and no creeds at all, should have some admonitory value as any future intolerance begins to crop out.

The symbolism might also be heeded in non-military areas in the United States, especially among population elements quite vocal about their religious ardor.

Men who have served in the armed forces can attest that variances in faith, creeds, doctrines and denominational fealties are ignored by servicemen. The Baptist and Christian Scientist, the Methodist and Jew, the Catholic and Moslem, live and work and fight together without bickering over individual beliefs.

They worship in the same structures, often at the same services, more or less articulately and earnestly appealing to the universal concept of a Supreme Being. Intolerance, bigotry, bias, prejudice and sadistic persecution are not practiced by run-of-mill persons sincere in their religious impulses, but by men in authority (like Hitler) mad with power, and by persons moved by other than religious desires.

In matters of religious congeniality at least military personnel living in an atmosphere of strife provide an example to civilians whose activities are geared to peace but often not maintaining peace with neighbors whose religious heritage and codes are somewhat different.

He taught school at the age of 18 years and while engaged in teaching attended Ridgeville College at Ridgeville, Ind. He began the study of medicine with Dr. R. C. Following a year of practice at Yelverton, Hardin County, he moved to LaRue where, in addition to his practice, he operated a drug store. He was appointed postmaster in 1881 and served until April 10, 1883.

Divining Rods Work

KANAKEE, Ill. (AP) — Children have discovered a new pastime.

It's finding buried pipes with homemade "divining rods" made from coat hangers. They hold two coat hanger rods in front of them and walk slowly around their home. When they come to a buried pipe the two wires slowly are pulled together and cross over the spot where the pipe is buried.

It has something to do with electro-magnetic action. But the children don't care about any high-flown scientific principles, it's just plain fun.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

'I Remember, I Remember'

(With apologies to Thomas Hood.)
I remember, I remember
The house where I was born—
'Twas built when fine construction jobs
Were not a hope forlorn;
It had a second story and
The attic wasn't lost
Somewhere within the blueprints when
They found what stairs would cost.
I remember, I remember
The rooms so high and wide—
(It wasn't called a ranch house for
Some midget and his bride);
The kitchen wasn't featured by
What's called "the bright new look". . .
It hadn't any gadgets, but
Had ample room to cook!
I remember, I remember
The solid look homes had. . .
Suggesting they would stand for years
And make no owner sad;
The cellar was a fortress and
A "refuge in the rock":
(The only water to be found
Was in a water crock.)
I remember, I remember
The attic "in the blue". . .
A boy could stand quite upright,
And it had some windows, too;
It had a roof of sturdiness
With chimney tall and thick;
(An April shower brought no shouts
Of "Man the liferafts quick!"
I remember, I remember
When our economy
Was such that builders had a chance
To build prodigously;
Hence I am not too hard on them—
Their headaches are not few—
And they recall the time when they
COLD BUILD 'EM THAT WAY, TOO!

New York is to build a mammoth new aquarium at Coney Island. For a couple of generations it was located at Battery Park, at the foot of Manhattan, convenient to millions of visitors. Coney puts it well from the beaten path, but it will be such a seventh wonder that it will probably draw the crowds. . . The only question is whether, the Coney Island mood being what it is, a fish will have any appeal unless it is two-headed, born with an eye in the middle or advertised as half-fish and half-man.

Big Rally Fouled Up

Political Desert Is Hard Going, Democrats Learn

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—If the big-wig Democrats' get-together in Chicago Sept. 14 and 15 is as fouled up as the preparations for it, there should be lively, if not harmonious, doings.

Since their election disaster in 1952 the Democrats have been pilgrims in a political desert, looking wistfully toward Washington, which they occupied so long it must seem to them like a family estate overrun by intruders.

The two big goals ahead of them are trying to regain control of Congress in 1954 and both Congress and the presidency in 1956. If all goes well with them in Chicago they may be able to make some plans for the 1954 elections.

Because this is their first national meeting since the Republicans took over in January, the Democrats will have no difficulty in not refraining from criticism of the Eisenhower administration's first eight months.

Preparations have been under way for weeks for this meeting, which will cover a lot more ground than just lambasting the Republicans.

It will be a welcome occasion for Adlai E. Stevenson, the party's 1952 presidential candidate after his long trip abroad; the Democratic National Committee will meet; and there will be a $100-a-plate dinner to raise money to pay off the National Committee's debts.

Former President Truman, who won't run again, will be there along with those who would like to run or have been mentioned as likely starters in the presidential sweepstakes three years from now.

Stevenson would probably like another try, but hasn't said so, and may find when nomination time comes around in 1956—or perhaps even at this Chicago meeting—that he has a lot of opposition.

Tennessee's Sen. Estes Kefauver who tried for the nomination last year, will be there, probably hoping the lightning strikes him next time. So will Missouri's Sen. Stuart Symington, who has been mentioned as a possible candidate.

But right in the midst of the preparations for all this John J. Kelly, Chicago lawyer and chairman of the dinner, quit with the explanation that his ideas conflicted with those of Stephen A. Mitchell, who is national committee chairman by choice of Stevenson.

Some Southern Democratic leaders complained they hadn't been invited at all, although Mitchell said all Democratic senators, governors and representatives had been asked to attend.

The office of Sen. Byrd, Virginia Democrat who helped Eisenhower in his state in 1952 by refusing to support Stevenson, said he hadn't been invited. But Byrd said he wouldn't have gone anyway.

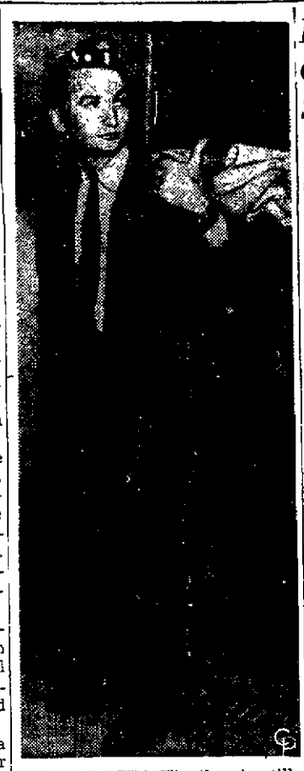
None of the three Southern Democratic governors who supported Eisenhower said he'd go: Byrnes of South Carolina, Kennon of Louisiana, and Shivers of Texas.

There seemed to be some confusion about Shivers. Mitchel announced he had sent Shivers a telegram saying he had "noted with deep distress newspaper reports" that the Texan couldn't attend and others that he hadn't been asked.

In his telegram Mitchell told the Texas governor that he and his wife had been invited.

Florida's Sen Holland just said flatly he wouldn't go because he didn't think the South had anything to gain there. His state went for Eisenhower in 1952.

Mitchell is reported to have spent a good deal of time trying to pacify the South since last year's election but, judging from the attitude of some of the Southern leaders toward the Chicago meeting, has been something less than 100 per cent successful.



THUMBS UP! His thumb still up, Henry Minvielle arrives in Los Angeles carrying a 69-pound shoulder pack after hitchhiking his way from Le Havre, France. He had to spend $58 for food and incidentals, but had $42 left when he reached California. This is earmarked for a return to France.

LaRue Rural Mail Carrier To Retire; Served 48 Years

Otto D. Terry of LaRue plans to retire Oct. 10 after 48 years as a rural mail carrier.

He is the mailman for LaRue Route 1, which runs west and north of the village.

Terry has seen a great many changes in the rural mail service since he first began deliveries. Once, most of his route was over mud roads, and he had to make the trip by horse and buggy.

In 1914, he purchased a Model T. Ford which he used in good weather. In winter and in the rainy season, however, he had to go back to the horse-drawn carriage to make his way through icy or muddy roads.

The amount of mail carried had increased tremendously, especially parcel post, he reports. Nowadays, he delivers everything from letters to automobile tires.

After retirement, he intends to devote more of his time to fishing. He owns a cabin on Fourth Crow Wing Lake in Minnesota where he spends his vacations.

1,500,000 Vets Get Jobs During First Half

WASHINGTON (AP)—Over 1½ million veterans were placed in jobs through the federal-state public employment service during the year prior to June 30.

In announcing this today, the Labor Department said the figure represents an increase of 96,000 over the previous year. More than 150,000 of the job placements were for Korean veterans.

The department said the increase in veterans' job placements was primarily due to favorable job opportunities, the expanding rate at which Korean veterans were discharged and special job finding services offered by local public employment offices.

Scottish War Bride Saved From Drowning

BOSTON (AP) — A Scottish war bride who "never goes in the water" took a dip yesterday and minutes later was rescued from drowning by a small girl about 8 years old.

Mrs. Marta H Moran, mother of three sons, said the little girl taught her to float and "I guess I floated out too far." Then, she said, she was unable to remain above water.

"I was going down for the third time," she said. "I know she was the one who saved me."

Mrs. Moran said she does not know her rescuer, but she plans to search Malibu Beach today in hopes of finding her.

All she knows about the little girl is "she told me that when she's 18 she's going to swim the English Channel."

Born in Muskingum County, he was graduated by Lash High School in 1908 and Ohio Wesleyan University in 1912.

After his graduation from Ohio Wesleyan, where he won letters in all major sports, he became coach and quarterback of one of the top professional football teams of the time, the Shelby Blues. At the same time he was assistant football coach at Ohio Wesleyan.

He became athletic director of Central College in Danville, Ky., in 1915, and athletic director of Beloit College at Beloit, Wis., in 1917. When Ohio Wesleyan celebrated its 100th anniversary in 1941, Littick was named as an end on its mythical "all time" eleven.

His newspaper career began in 1920 when he joined the staff of the Zanesville Publishing Co. He served in many capacities in learning the business from the ground up.

In 1926, he bought the Daily Independent, a newspaper in Murphysboro, Ill., and in 1929 returned as general manager of the Zanesville firm.

He took great interest in civic affairs. He was a past president ofthe Ohio Society for Crippled Children, the Muskingum County Society for Crippled Children, the Zane Trace Area of the Boy Scouts, and in addition served many other church, charity and civic groups. He was district governor of the Southern Ohio District of Rotary International in 1941-42.

Callander of Delaware; a daughter, Mrs. Homer F. Tobin of Zanesville; a son, William O. Littick of Zanesville; two granddaughters, Lee Anne and Jane Arline Tobin of Zanesville, and a niece, Jane Littick of Hoopeston, Ill.

Veteran Trapshooter Dies at Springfield

Charles T. Henderson, 80, one of Ohio's most prominent trapshooters and a native of Delaware County, died Tuesday in Springfield following an extended illness. He was the last surviving member of the group which formed the Central Ohio Trapshooting League more than 40 years ago, and he served several terms as president of the Ohio Trapshooters' Association.

The veteran clay target enthusiast was born in Lewis Center, Delaware County, on Sept. 11, 1872, and moved to Springfield when 11 years old. He was co-founder of the George E. Meek sporting goods store there in the early part of the century and became sole owner of the establishment in 1945.

Troop 32 Boy Scouts Return From Trip to Canada

2,700-Mile Journey Is Marked by Camping And Sightseeing

Seven members of Boy Scout Troop 32 and the Scoutmaster, E. P. McAfee, have returned from a trip to New Brunswick, Canada, on which they traveled a total of 2,700 miles by truck in 10 days. They left Aug. 16.

Experiences of camping, fishing, canoeing and exploring, and visits to Quebec and Niagara Falls were included, along with difficulties with the French language at points, a rainy night in a hayloft, and giving a lift to two Quebec Scouts who were hinking to Washington, D.C.

Encounters with wild animals included the visit of bears at camp, grouse and porcupine along the trail, and a pair of moose from a swamp halting progress of the boys on a back-country path.

For the trip into Canada from Marion, the group traveled along Lake Erie out of Ohio, through a part of Pennsylvania, and into New York to the Finger Lakes for the first night of camping. From Albany, N. Y., the route was through Vermont, New Hampshire, and Maine, then along the Atlantic Ocean into Canada at Vanceboro.

After going 100 miles northeast, the travelers reached Renous, New Brunswick, where a logging road led to an overnight camp at the Renous River. Guides there, friends of Mr. McAfee, led them 30 miles on old logging trails to three log cabins, property of the Scoutmaster. Two days there included hikes and exploring expeditions, and water activities. On Aug. 23, setting out for the St. Lawrence River, they stopped at French settlements for supplies, and that night got permission from a farmer to occupy the hayloft because of the rainy weather.

On the way to the city of Quebec, an attraction was the roadside shops which sell hand-carved boats and other pieces of hand-carved art work. Following a tour of historical points in the city, the group made camp along the St. Lawrence, then next day followed the river and crossed the Thousand Islands into this country, and picked up the Canadian Boy Scouts whose destination was the U. S. capital. Spending the night about 60 miles east of Niagara Falls, the troop spent Aug. 25 at Niagara Falls, made the tour of the Cave of the Winds, and progressed to within 100 miles of Marion, completing their trip the next day.

The party included with Mr. McAfee his son, Gary, Craig Anderson, Dick Mitton, Jack Smith, Mike Lake, Gene Blashinsky, and Wesley L. (Bud) Warwick. Troop 32 is sponsored by First Church of the Brethren.

Dulles

conquest of small nations, until they become bloated with power and busy with success."

In cautioning against possible new Communist aggression against South Korea, Dulles noted that the United States and its 15 United Nations allies in Korea have jointly declared that any violation of the armistice would cause grave consequences which probably could not be confined within the frontiers of Korea.

"Since 1950," the secretary said, "the forces of aggression have been supplied, equipped, and protected by air from unmolested bases in China, just north of the Yalu.

"If, however, the Communists desire to resume the war, they now know that they could no longer count on this privileged 'sanctuary.'"

Won't Daily Indefinitely

Looking ahead to the Korean peace conference with the Communists, Dulles again served notice that "we shall not sit in it indefinitely" if the Reds show bad faith.

"We are always ready to negotiate in good faith," he said," but we expect good faith to be mutual. We shall not lend ourselves to Communist maneuvers designed to win their end through guile.

"If . . . the conference is serving no useful purpose, we shall expect to withdraw from the conference."

Dulles assured the legionnaires the United States would seek at the peace parley "no pretext for turning Korea into a U. S. base on the Asia mainland." He said the American goal is a united, free Korea, and that on details U. S. thinking is flexible.

Urges Red Cooperation

"We hope the Communists will come to the conference in the same spirit, and not throw roadblocks in the way of achieving a simple and fair result, in the interest of a long-suffering Korean people," he continued.

Dulles made it clear that the United States would be willing to talk about Indochina, if the Chinese Communists desire it, at the Korean peace conference.

Two burning national convention issues already have caused a split in the convention. A floor fight was foreseen at least on the budget cuts question.

Perhaps the hottest issue on the agenda is the Eisenhower administration's five-billion-dollar cut in the Air Force budget and its decision to cut back the Air Force program from 143 to 120 wings.

Want 143 Wing

The convention committee on aeronautics passed a resolution calling for re-establishment of a 143-wing Air Force. This will come up before the convention Committee on Security, but it is one of the last items on the agenda today and possibly could be crowded off.

The resolution could be blocked in the Security Committee but proponents say it definitely will be brought out on the convention floor.

Norman Lyon of Pasadena, Calif., member of the Aeronautics Committee, told other members not to get "out on a limb by telling the Joint Chiefs of Staff what particular number of wings we ought to have."

Legionnaires Sound Off

But Herman Namey of San Antonio, Tex., another committee member, asked:

"Since when has the American Legion ceased to have guts enough to tell the government and the country what we think is good for it?"

As to the United Nations issue, it was indicated last night that the legion's Foreign Relations Committee would not call for United States' withdrawal from the organization.

But this would not prevent the question from coming to the convention floor. There are 13 resolutions pending which either oppose admission of Red China to the U.N. or express a lack of confidence in the U.N. as a security organization.

Bitter Attack on U.N.

Donald R. Wilson of Clarksburg, W.Va., a former national commander, gave a bitter attack against the organization in a convention speech which drew a mixed reaction from the committee.

Most committee members, however, were critical of the U. N. in varying degrees.

Addresses by George Meany, president of the American Federation of Labor, and William Early, president of the National Education Assn., were also scheduled today.

The 10-hour parade through downtown St. Louis yesterday claimed the lives of two Legionnaires—both World War I veterans who collapsed under the 100-degree temperature.

150 Overcome

William Randolph, 51, of North Little Rock, and Salem A. Hatem, 61, of New York City were both dead on arrival at City Hospital. About 150 other paraders, overcome by heat, were treated at first aid stations.

An estimated 300,000 persons turned out to watch the parade. Scattered through the marchers were beauty queens, 323 drum and bugle corps and bands, 170 replicas of locomotives and boxcars and automobiles carrying dignitaries.

It was St. Louis' biggest parade, with 100,000 marchers and riders.

mer Un-American Activities Commission expired last year after investigating Communist activities over the state.

Rep. Samuel L. Devine (R-Franklin) is chairman of the recreated commission. He is a former FBI agent, member of the former commission and of the old anti-subversives committee.

Other members of the 12-man commission are:

Rep. John V. Corrigan (D-Cuyahoga), also a member of the former commission and of the anti-subversives committee; Sens. Robert A. Pollock (R-Stark), Wilbur L. Shull (R-Franklin, Anthony J. Celebreeze (D-Cuyahoga), Edward H. Dell (D-Butler), Delbert L. Latta (R-Hancock) and C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens), Senate majority leader; House Speaker William Saxbe (R-Champaign) and Reps. F. L. Cassel (R-Wyandot), Jesse Yoder (D-Montgomery) and Robert F. Groneman (R-Hamilton).

Saxbe sailed for Holland last week and will not attend the hearing.

Heat

In cities, millions were inconvenienced by lack of water as overheated pumps broke down. The stifling heat in offices and factories brought early closing in many cities again yesterday.

The hottest cities yesterday were Louisville and Jackson, Tenn., with 103 while Chicago's 101 marked the eighth straight day of temperatures above 95. It also was 101 in Cleveland.

In St. Louis, two members of the American Legion collapsed during the 10-hour parade as temperatures soared to 101. About 150 other paraders and marchers were overcome by the heat. There have been 28 heat prostration deaths in St. Louis this summer.

17 Die in Pennsylvania

Of the 50 deaths attributed to the heat, there were 12 in Chicago in a 12-hour period yesterday, the hottest Sept. 1 on record. The death toll in Illinois was 14.

Seventeen persons died in Pennsylvania from heat exhaustion or heart conditions aggravated by hot weather. There were 6 in New York; 3 in Texas; 2 each in Michigan, Missouri and Massachusetts, and 1 each in Indiana, Maine, Wisconsin and Maryland.

Most of the major cities in the eastern half of the country have new records for consecutive days of high temperature and readings for the date for the last several days.

It was 102 in Cincinnati yesterday; 100 in Indianapolis and Nashville; 99 in Washington and Columbus, Ohio; 98 in Milwaukee and Detroit; 97 in Philadelphia, Kansas City, Des Moines, Pittsburgh and Omaha, New York's 93 was a record for the date and the eighth straight day above 90.

Temperature Readings Are Well Above Normal

As everyone in the area realizes, it was hot in Marion during the last week. Figures released by the Weather Bureau office of the U. S. Department of Commerce in Columbus, show that Marion was seven degrees hotter than normal during the week from Aug. 25 to Sept. 1.

The same pattern was evident over the rest of the state, as all cities in the report had temperatures above normal. These ranged from six degrees above the regular temperature in Chillicothe to 13 degrees hotter than usual in Cleveland.

Rain was scarce throughout the state. Heaviest fall in the state was recorded at Akron-Canton airport where a total of 33 hundredths of an inch fall during the week.

Marion weather observers reported a total of two-one-hundredths of one inch during the last seven days.

The high temperatures throughout the state followed a month long period in which the mercury was below average in most sections of Ohio.

During the week ending Aug. 25, temperatures in Marion were five degrees below normal. They were also below average during the preceding two weeks.

Iran

He had intended to return to the summer White House in Denver last night, but put off departure until this evening after landing the largest rainbow trout he or any other member of his party had caught since coming to Fraser last Thursday. It measured 15⅝ inches and weighed 1¼ pounds.

Last May 28 Eisenhower wrote Mossadegh there was a strong feeling in the United States it would be "most unfair to American taxpayers to extend a considerable amount of economic aid to Iran so long as that country has access to funds derived from the sale of oil and oil products."

That was a reference to the oil dispute between Great Britain and Iran, a dispute the United States has tried without success to help solve.

Encouraging Note

Significantly, Zahedi's message to Eisenhower said the new Iranian government intends "not only to strengthen the country internally but also to improve its international position."

The Prime Minister added the government "will pursue a policy of eliminating such differences as may exist or which may develop between other countries in a spirit of friendliness and in accordance with accepted principles of international intercourse."

In reply, Eisenhower noted that Zahedi pledge and said he was pleased to have the promise.

Zahedi said the people of his country are anxious to have a prosperous, orderly nation in which they enjoy higher standards of living and make greater use of the talents and resources.

"I hope that the United States will find it possible at this critical moment in Iranian history to come to my country's assistance as it has done on occasions in the past," Zahedi wrote.

Ferguson

voting issue as a Trojan Horse, just to win an election, and the facts aren't on their side," he said. "They are just trying to ride the President's coattails."

Johnson's Claims

Johnson had declared that most of the opposition Eisenhower encountered this year came from GOP ranks, and he said, "Many of his programs could not even have been brought to the floor of either house without Democratic help."

Ferguson, on the other hand, said he had checked 47 Senate rollcall votes which "conceivably involved the President's program" and had found that:

"Fifty per cent or more of the Senate Democrats voted against the President's program 22 out of 47 times—or almost half the time, while 5 per cent or more Senate Republicans voted against it only 4 times.

Excellent Record

"In 30 cases out of 47, Senate Republicans had more votes in support of the President's program than the combined Republican-Democratic vote against. This is an excellent record."

Ferguson did not specify the issues on which these votes were cast.

He added that many parts of the Eisenhower program went through Congress without a record vote.

He said that, on the other hand, Democrats had blocked Hawaiian statehood in a Senate committee, resisted Republican economy moves and obstructed efforts to help government out with private business.

"Democrats hope that by close identification with the Eisenhower program, they will be able to benefit from the President's popularity," Ferguson said.

"They hope to convince the nation that a Democratic-controlled Congress will mean smooth sailing for the President's requests.

Would Turn Tables

"Once in control, however, there is not the slightest doubt that Democrats would work tooth and nail to replace the present White House occupant with a member of the Democratic party.

"Democrats could block legislation, embarrass the administration, and thwart the carrying out of Republican policy, just as they did in the last year of President Hoover's term."

The area is rough, wooded and laced with rivers. Only a short distance to the east of the flight course rise the ragged lofty peaks of the Cascade Mountains, graveyard of many a plane.

Search plans immediately were made by Washington, Oregon and McChord officials but a steadily dropping cloud layer and prediction of possible rain minimized hope of any aerial search before late today.

Trek Into Catskills

Mountain Climbing Is Youngsters' Job

(Editor's note: Giant's ledge, a hitherto irreproachable out cropping of the Catskills, has been scaled by a party led by heedless Hal Boyle, a barefoot Missouri boy with an iron purpose. His first-person story follows).

By HAL BOYLE

ATOP GIANT'S LEDGE, N. Y. (AP)—At last! At last! We are here!

I can hardly breathe. Boy, even at 3,000-plus feet the auto exhaust fumes get you in the Catskills.

Our party has planted the confederate flag on the peak here and we are negotiating to sell the place to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

First of all, I would like to say that this feat would have been impossible without the careful planning of my faithful wife, Frances. She fixed the sandwiches.

She is back at base Camp No. 1—I will never forget her heartening farewell words:

"Anybody who tries to scale Giant's Ledge after 40 when he could stay here and play gin rummy is nuts."

Nor can I wipe from my mind her querulous feminine query:

"Why is Giant's Ledge such a challenge to you?"

Surely you must remember my quiet but firm reply:

"Because, my dear it is there."

Well, it is still there—and I and my party are atop of it. We did a typical American thing on accomplishing this feat. We first sat down and panted, scratched our initials on a rock, and cooked some hot dogs.

Naturally the world wonders what it is like up here in the clear, clean (cough, cough) ozone. Well, it appears that this area once had a tropical climate, as the first things we saw was a ruined orange peel. Also it had been penetrated earlier by a barbarian explorer who inscribed this proud message of his achievement:

"Kilroy was here."

Nothing else is left of his passing. One can but wonder what emotions stirred the breast of that forgotten rude savage chief as he surveyed the tremendous scene.

He has gone, but time has not dimmed the splendor of that vista. Humble we stood in the dread shadow of an even more unassailable peak called—well, let's be honest — Mt. Pleasant. With two more oxygen masks and three more hot dogs we could of climbed it, too, and that's the truth.

Below us spread the far splendid acres of the lady who sells fresh corn for 75 cents a dozen ears on weekends—and 50 cents a dozen on Mondays, when tourists are scarce.

History, of course, will want to know who first reached the top of Giant's Ledge. Was it Bill and Fredrika Gray of Life Magazine, the sponsors of our expedition, or one of the six freckled young animals in their keeping? Or was it I? Or was it Mrs. Hugh Tenzing Blake, who previously had prepared for the ordeal by climbing every rugged cliff in Bermuda?

The world may wonder, but we mountaineers have no jealousy. For us it was a team job. You will never get from us the secret of who was first to reach the top.

What difference does it make? We made the peak.

But I will give you a tip. If you are middle - aged and trying to scale a mountain, always follow behind the prettiest girl in the party. It will give you something to look forward to, as you climb from peek to peak.

Ohio Retail Sales For First Half Up

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio retail sales for the first half of 1953 were ahead of the U. S. average, says the August issue of "The Ohio Retail Annalist," published by the bureau of business research at Ohio State University.

First half retail sales averaged 8 per cent above the first half of 1952. Nationwide retail sales for the same period were only 6 per cent ahead of the 1952 retail sales, the journal said.

Here is how retail sales jumped in some Ohio cities for seven months of 1953; Akron up 7 per cent; Canton up 1 per cent; Cincinnati up 11 per cent; Cleveland up 13 per cent; Columbus up 13 per cent; Dayton up 17 per cent; Toledo up 6 per cent and Youngstown up 15 per cent.

Police Chief Coon Urges Caution by Labor Day Drivers

Motorists were advised today by Marion Police Chief Thomas B. Coon to take it easy over the Labor Day week end and live longer. He stressed the need for drivers to maintain a margin of safety on streets and highways jammed with week-end traffic over the holiday.

This means, it was explained, that motorists should expect other drivers to make mistakes and by anticipating these mistakes may be able to avoid accidents.

"To make sure it won't be pain and grief you bring yourself and your family," Chief Coon said, "keep your holiday spirit and your car under control."

Chief Coon also asked local motorists to decide now that they and their families will have a pleasant holiday, not a painful future. He pointed out also that Labor Day is the end of summer vacation for youngsters and cautioned drivers to be on the alert for children all the time. "Drive slow and give boys and girls a chance to grow," he said.

why pay for waste water?

In homes where the water softener is owned outright, regenerating the softener wastes many, many gallons of water just to flush salt out of the softener tank. This is a constant expense, that's repeated every time the softener is regenerated.

Handicapped Auto Salesman Appeals At Delaware Court

Special to The Star

DELAWARE — A handicapped Delaware auto salesman, Warren Thomas, has filed an appeal in Common Pleas Court here to reverse the revocation of his driver's license made by the state motor vehicle bureal.

Thomas was first arrested by the state patrol on a speeding charge and was then cleared of the charge in common pleas court, after he refused to submit to trial before the Delaware mayor He was later notified by the state bureau that he would be required to take a driver's examination, given by the highway patrol.

Thomas last week successfully passed the driver's test, but was later notified that he would be required to surrender his license in exchange for a restricted one which would permit him to drive only automatic transmission equipped cars and require the installation of special steering equipment.

He listed 15 points in his appeal, including: "Appellant has a physical defect which consists of no right arm from the elbow down. He was born with this defect and has driven motor vehicles for over 20 years. At one time he possessed a chauffeur's license"; "the practical effect of the order would mean that Thomas could no longer continue in this business and would deprive himself and his family of a livelihood." Thomas is employed at a motor sales company as manager, where his duties consist of demonstrating new and used cars, driving customers to and from the garage in their own cars and testing customers' cars after servicing.

Thomas stated that he uses the stub of his right arm in all normal driving operations including shifting of gears.

These Days

By George Sokolsky

Those gentle-minded persons who do not fear and will not fight Communism, because they regard it as a movement of little permanence, particularly in this country, should have been required to attend the 50th Anniversary of the Communist party of the Soviet Union (1903-1953).

SOKOLSKY

The Bolsheviks (as they originally called themselves) have not been limited to Soviet Russia. They were an offshoot of the Social Democratic party which Karl Marx developed to propagate his ideas.

The First International (1864-1876) was his instrument as long as it lasted.

The Second International was more moderate but it ceased to be of any importance after 1917.

THE THIRD International (Comintern and later Cominform) is the world-wide Communist instrument for propaganda, infiltration and espionage of Soviet Russia.

At the 1903 meeting of the Russian Social Democratic party in London, Lenin took a position which split the party.

Those who followed Lenin were in the majority and were therefore called Bolsheviks; the minority were called Mensheviks and they are now either dead or in exile.

Lenin was successful in seeding down Bolshevism in Russia in the 1917 Revolution which he won with hardly any popular support.

Had he failed, had Kerensky been able to establish a democratic regime, or had Gen. Kornilov been able to restore the monarchy modelled after Great Britain, the history of our era might have been less dreadful.

The fact is that Lenin, assisted by Trotzky, succeeded and Bolshevism ceased to be a subject for soap-box orators in Union Square in New York or Hyde Park in London; it became a world force financed by the resources of a government.

HAVING ESTABLISHED itself in Russia, it retained most of the institutions of czarist Russia, namely, autocracy, the centralization of government in an individual, the supreme power of the state over the life of the individual, the revival of serfdom, particularly in agriculture and of slave labor in camps designated for the purpose.

Worst of all, it took over the Okhrana, the terrifying secret police which reduces the human being to a frightened, anxious creature.

The Okhrana first became the Cheka, then the OGPU, then the NKVD, now the MVD. The name changes; the institution remains the same.

In the czarist autocracy, the czar, "The Little Father," as he was called, was not only the civil but the religious ruler of his people. He held his throne by divine right and regarded himself as the vicar in Russia of God

Lenin, as a materialist, could not adopt this role, so he deified Karl Marx and became his prophet. Henceforth; the basic emotional and intellectual concepts of Russia were to be called Marxism-Leninism.

STALIN WAS not so modest He deified himself and required obeisance as to an oriental potentate He became the state, the church, the conscience of the people.

He styled himself the world's greatest genius in all fields. And the day after he died, his name was erased from memory. But Lenin still lives on, the embodiment of Bolshevism.

Fifty years is not a long period in history nor even in the existence of a political party. In a review of the 50th anniversary issued by the Propaganda and Agitation Department and the Marx-Engles-Lenin-Stalin Institute, this appears:

"Our party is the only party in the country. It undividedly exercises the leading role in Soviet society. Leadership by the Communist party is the decisive condition for the firmness and unshakeability of the Soviet system and for all the successes of our people . . ."

IN FACT, the party is put ahead of the country. It is supreme. In another part of this review of party history appears:

"The whole course of the half-century history of the Communist party of the Soviet Union has shown the immense importance of the principles of party leadership and norms of party life worked out by Lenin.

"The party teaches that it is imperatively necessary to carry out these laws of party organization, strictly to adhere to the supreme principle of party leadership, namely, collective leadership, and to the requirements of the party rules . . ."

Those who question the dicta of the party are killed. This emphasis on rigid orthodoxy has produced a reactionary, autocratic, brutal resurrection of orientalism a return to the world of Genghis Khan, to autocracy and the reduction of man to a thing.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

It is now thoroughly safe to assume that the FBI knows the inner details of the entire Communist underground — sabotage cells. espionage squads, apartment covers, mail drops, personnel and couriers. Otherwise it would not have picked up the two Communist fugitives in the High Sieras.

RIESEL

Had there been anything more to learn, the FBI would have held off and continued to watch the travels of the special underground corps assigned to one of the men in the mountain hideout — Bob Thompson.

Though he has had little publicity, Thompson is one of the top Communist leaders. He is the party's "dialectician," the man who explains away the twists and turns in Communist line. As such he is even more valuable than he was when he personally reorganized the party into an underground apparatus. He operated out of the California mountain cabin transmitting orders and directives through visiting "tourists."

THOMPSON'S comrade - in-hiding, Sid Stein, was the party's acting labor chief, who continued to direct the sabotage and infiltration cells long after he went underground with Thompson.

These men were the most important wheels in the precision-like underground revolutionary machine.

Their services were vital So they chanced keeping in touch with the outside world. employing means of communication movie writers further south would have thought too melodramatic to use even in a Grade B script . . .

So now the Communist party's propaganda division task is to whip up sentiment against the FBI, and against the imprisonment of Thompson especially, in Alcatraz or any other federal pen from which he would be hampered in fitting himself back into the party machine via couriers — ostensible visitors — and the famous prison grapevines.

The party is determined not to be deprived of the services of its top dialectician — a man especially chosen for the job by Moscow.

ALREADY PARTY functionaries have passed word on to its people to stir a whirlwind against the FBI.

The specific orders are: 1—Start a flood of letters of protest to editors against "FBI gestapo tactics."

2—Get unions, especialy in Chicago, where party strength is now concentrated, to pass anti-FBI resolutions.

3 — Attempt to get religious organizations to protest on the basis of the damage done to the families of the prisoners.

4—Provide protests and letters to Congress, President Eisenhower and the Justice Department against the FBI and especially Director J. Edgar Hoover, who it happens was near the High Sieras hideout NOT by accident this past week.

These orders have been passed out both verbally and in writing, copies of which have been seen.

ESPECIALLY VITAL in these instructions is a section which orders party members to join in and exploit the current assault on the FBI which comes, strangely enough, from conservative circles inside the Republican party.

Criticism of the bureau, which launched a sort of open pot shot season against Hoover and his department, began when Pennsylvania's Gov. Fine attacked it with unusual bitterness at the Republican Governors' Conferences in Seattle on Aug 2.

Background of this attack has never been told nationaly. Here it is

Last November 16, a Pennsylvania steelworker in the CIO United Steelworkers' District 11, got a call from an undertaker. The CIO man's son was dead, said the caller. Don't bring your wife, the voice warned, because the son's body had been badly slashed.

The son, age 29, was Robert H. Byers He had died in the Pennhurst State School for Feeble Minded, Spring City, Pa. The father earlier had received a collect telegram from the school superintendent, advising him that the son had died.

Byers got to the funeral parlor and found, "There was hardly six suare inches of the entire body which was not covered by abrasions, cuts and lacerations . . . . and the left jaw responded to the touch as if broken, as did the ribs."

BYERS RETAINED a labor lawyer, Sidney C. Handler, of Harrisburg, Pa. Meanwhile regional leaders of the CIO Steelworkers Union took pictures of the dead man. Never in my years of reporting have I seen so ghastly a bruised body as these photos reveal.

Handler then got civil rights machinery in motion to determine if the boy had been beaten and whether criminal action could be charged. Byers complained to the authorities. The Justice Department took action and ordered the FBI to investigate. This the FBI did.

On Aug. 10, a week after Gov. Fine's attack on the FBI, an assistant U. S attorney general, Warren Olney, Jr., wrote counselor Handler that there had been no criminal action established and no further action would be taken.

Apparently Gov. Fine believed this probe to be an invasion of States Rights. After his blast at the FBI, he was joined by Gov. John S. Battle of Virginia and still later, criticism came from Gov. Thomas Dewey of New York.

Since then it has been open season on Hoover and his agents. The point is that the critical governors know that the FBI never moves except on orders from the U. S. attorney general.

THEIR QUARREL, therefore, would be with Herbert Brownell. They are aware the attack on the FBI is an attack on the attorney general. This reveals, it seems to me, some sort of feud inside the Republican party.

Brownell has been going after the Ku Klux Klan, as wel as mobs and the Commies. He has done the crime syndicate more harm in six months than the past attorneys general have in the last six presidential terms

To get at the hooded ones and the thugs he has been using every legal means in the code book, including an ancient post-Civil War civil rights law.

He orders. The FBI obeys In the words of J. Edgar Hoover the other night:

"When the FBI can enforce a law of its own choosing we will have a Gestapo and I will not permit the Bureau to be a party to that repugnant un-American tyranny."

Seems to me, that puts it right. This is hardly the season for shooting at the FBI

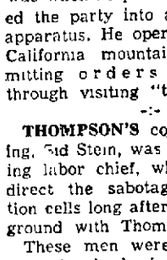
By Inez Robb

My favorite line in the new Kinsey report on women has nothing to do with women—or everything to do with them, according to deponent's point of view.



INEZ ROBB

The line is simple, to the point and to wit: "The male poulation is a herd of prancing, leering goats." This is the opinion of an irate lady whom Dr. Kinsey quoies in the upcoming volume.

This bit of lyric prose has kept running through "my haid" ever since I first encountered it. And it is always followed by a second line. as night the day, that goes this way. "is that bad?"

-:-

I HOPE I NEVER get so old or my arteries so hard that I won't enjoy a dash of prancing and leering on the part of the opposite sex. I honestly think the woman has rocks in her noggin

Nothing brightens the day more for the average woman than a bit of prancing here and leering there. and I am in favor of expelling from the union any subversive who compalins on either count.

My unflagging fight for equal rights for men will guarantee them prancing and leering right for life.

How, otherwise, would a woman ever know she is attractive, pretty, witty, gay, amusing, charming, alluring, fascinating, captivating or a woman?

Who wants to be a gruesome toothsome while the lads pass sedately by on the other side of the street?

THE ONLY reason I was able to get my middle-aged bones to the office today in the midst of this dreadful heat wave is because of a little unexpected leering and prancing that did more for me than a beaker of adrenalin.

As I left the apartment house this forenoon and stood on the melting street corner, waiting for the light to change, I felt cross, tired and old as the hills. At life's lowest ebb a big truck rolled past.

Just as it got abreast of me, two broths of boys stuck their handsome heads out of the cab and let out wolf whistles that shook windows for blocks in all directions.

I looked around to see what neigborhood beauty had roused such a stirring tribute from these connoisseurs. And, honestly, I was the only woman in sight.

-:-

WELL, NO ONE knows better than I that these kids — and me old enough to be the mother of both—were just practicing. Doubtless, they were whistling and wooing at every street corner just to get the hang of it in city traffic.

Still and all, I was the only woman—

And they did look right straight at me—

And the salesgirl did say that new little red velvet pillbox does something for me—

And I can dream, can't I? and if those two lovely, discriminating young men had given me a thousand dollar bill, it wouldn't have sent me off to work half so jubilantly as their prancing and leering.

I have been in a divine mood all day, speaking kindly to editors and copy boys, and I've scarcely felt the heat at all.

IF THERE really are women who don't want men to leer and prance, they ought to be locked up before they do any harm.

Take the prance and leer out of men, and what will happen to the human race? Don't answer.

So "the male population is a herd of prancing, leering goats," eh? Why it's the best endorsement the boys ever had!

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Momism on Loose

Momism, a scathing word invented by Philip Wylie to describe the more excessive forms of mother worship in this country, runs televised soap opera. Come to think of it, momism ran amok on radio soap opera, too, but the variations on TV, it seems to me, are even more numerous and malignant.

Motherhood, as practiced on TV soaps, is an absolutely agonizing experience either for mother or child or for both. On "The Guiding Light," a CBS soap, there is at present a case of triple-momism, easily winning the momism award of the year. One mother is trying to break up her daughter's marriage because Bill drinks.

ANOTHER GIRL, Kathy, just became a mother and as a result of the psychological changes of motherhood, can't bear her husband. At the same time, Kathy is in full revolt against even the memories of maternal authority and keeps yelping that she isn't a child any more and doesn't need to be told to do things. Motherhood just runs berserk on "The Guiding Light."

Over on "Follow Your Heart," there's a case of double momism. One is a benevolent mom — who may be the worst kind — who keeps trying to get her daughter to take her glasses off so she can capture the man of her heart. The other, an aristocratic old baggage from the Main Line, is trying to bust up the romance of her daughter — "the beautiful and capricious Julie Fielding" — with a chemist who is clearly not of her class.

ON "HAWKINS FALLS," which may, incidentally, be the most sensible of the TV soaps, there's a mother who wants desperately to be a stage mother. She has a small monster of a girl who sings and whom she inflicts on every passing soul. "God preserve me from ambitious mothers," says cantankerous old Judge Sharpe on that show. God preserve us all, Judge.

One of the more complicated cases of momism is on "Search for Tomorrow." Jo, the mom in question, who is — I guess — a widder lady, has a little girl Patty who is crazy about Uncle Arthur. Everyone in town is trying to make a match between Jo and Uncle Arthur. Jo doesn't want to marry Uncle Arthur but, she keeps musing, that maybe she ought to give little Patty a father.

She takes motherhood real hard, this girl, and most any weekday you'll find her mooning over the dishes not because her daughter is unhappy but because she's so happy with Uncle Arthur.

"OH, LORD IN HEAVEN," she keeps moaning, "Help me to do the right thing — the right thing by Patty, the right thing by Arthur and — the right thing by me." Obviously someone is going to get left out in that triangle.

Over on "Three Steps to Heaven," momism is dormant but that doesn't mean it doesn't exist. Mary Ellen on that show, the villainous psychiatrist, Dr Bremner tells us, has a bad mother complex and, while it isn't causing any trouble at the moment, some instinct tells me, it will, it will.

When they're not tangling with their mothers, the girls on TV soap are usually embroiled with another woman over some man. Rarely is it the other way around, two men after one babe. There's a great man shortage on TV soaps and the girls claw each other's eyes out over the few eligible males around, though none of the men is anything you'd write mother about.

Probably the most savage contest on at the moment is on "Love of Life" where Meg is trying to steal Matt away from her sister Vanessa and using no scruples at all about it. In fact, she's trying to pin a $15,000 robbery on her dear little innocent sister. They play rough in this league.

ON "THE BENNETTS" Mrs. Elkins has just been arrested for manslaughter. Shot and killed an innocent bystander while aiming at the girl her husband was playing around with. On "Three Steps to Heaven," Mary Ellen has just told Jennifer to keep her dirty hands off Bill and on "Follow Your Heart" Julie and Georgie are both after that crummy chemist, Peter, and somebody's bound to get hurt.

Between motherhood and love, life isn't worth living in this jungle.

(New York Herald Tribune)

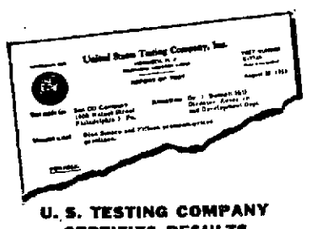
BLUE SUNOCO WINS AGAIN

In Actual Road Tests Conducted By U.S. Testing Co.



U. S. TESTING COMPANY CERTIFIES RESULTS

U.S. Testing Company—largest, oldest, and best known in the world—writes, "Practically speaking, the results show no difference between Blue Sunoco and any of the 15 premium-priced gasolines tested in miles per gallon, acceleration, or overall performance."

Cars Used In The Test

Cross section of American cars were tested—1948 to 1953 models.

1953 Chevrolet (new)	1951 Nash
1949 Chevrolet	1952 Studebaker
1953 Ford (new)	1953 Chrysler (new)
1951 Ford	1950 Chrysler
1953 Plymouth (new)	1951 DeSoto
1948 Plymouth	1953 Cadillac (new)
1953 Buick (new)	1949 Cadillac
1949 Buick	1952 Packard
1950 Pontiac	1951 Hudson
1952 Oldsmobile	1953 Lincoln
1952 Dodge	1952 Willys
1952 Mercury	1952 Kaiser
1952 Henry J.

5-STATE, 25-CAR TEST ▶

Cars included every current American make from 1948 to brand new. States were Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Connecticut, Michigan, Ohio. Cars were driven at touring speeds. As certified by United States Testing Company, High-Test Blue Sunoco at regular gas price matched the mileage, acceleration and over-all performance of 15 premium-priced gasolines costing up to 3 cents more per gallon. See your Sunoco dealer today.

Blue Sunoco Matches 15 Premium-Priced Gasolines in Miles Per Gallon...Gives you Up to 12.4% more miles per dollar

High-Test Blue Sunoco was tested against 15 premium-priced gasolines, with all their latest "improvements". Yet Blue Sunoco, selling at regular gas price, matched the mileage, acceleration and over-all performance of these gasolines, which cost up to 3¢ more per gallon!

Final results of the five-state, 25-car road test for gasoline mileage have now been tabulated. Of the 16 gasolines tested, High-Test Blue Sunoco, the only regular-priced brand, matched the mileage, acceleration and over-all performance of its 15 premium-priced competitors.

How It's Possible

For over 25 years, the Sun Oil Company has produced one—and only one—highest quality gasoline.

This single-grade gasoline policy results in savings on tankships, trucks, storage tanks, and pumps. These savings have been used to build special advanced manufacturing equipment. This, together with Sun's exclusive processes, offers motorists a superior, premium performing gasoline—High-Test Blue Sunoco.

See Your Sunoco Dealer

Ask your Sunoco dealer for further details of the Sunoco road tests. Ask him, for example, the actual brand names of the premium-priced gasolines tested against Blue Sunoco. You'll find they include the ones sold right in your own neighborhood. And of course, be sure to fill your gas tank today with High-Test Blue Sunoco.

Helicopters Help Make Congo Safe

EAST HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—James R. Patterson of the United Aircraft Corp. says Belgian officials hold the helicopter second in importance only to medical men in making Leopoldville in the Belgian Congo a healthful place to live

The "copter" is used extensively in spraying large areas of the jungle with insecticides, he said. The sprayings have been reduced to eight per cent contagion among native children. Before World War II the rate was closer to 100 per cent.

The giant squid, a carnivorous sea animal may weigh up to 30 tons and is something like an octopus, although it has ten arms instead of eight.

SAYS U.S. LEADS. Rep. Sterling Cole (R-N.Y.), chairman of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee, confers in Washington with Lt. Gen. C. P. Cabell (right), acting director of the Central Intelligence Agency. They had just attended a closed-door meeting where the committee and the CIA discussed grave, new developments arising from the confirmed fact that Soviet Russia had succeeded in exploding a hydrogen bomb. The New York Congressman told reporters that the United States is well ahead of Russia in both hydrogen and atomic developments "and will continue to be."

Van Fleet Spurns ROK Command, U.S. Official Says

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An official of the American-Korean Foundation says Gen. James A. Van Fleet turned down an offer from President Syngman Rhee to head South Korea's armed forces.

Palmer Bevis, executive director of the foundation, told a news conference yesterday Rhee personally made the offer to Van Fleet in Seoul a few days ago.

Van Fleet went to Korea for the foundation. Bevis was in the Van Fleet party.

A South Korean government spokesman recently denied the offer had been made to the retired U. S. 8th Army general

Bevis said Van Fleet told Rhee that as an American citizen he could not command another nation's armed forces.

Reporter's Wife Dubious About His Assignment To Hear Kinsey

By ED CREACH

WASHINGTON (AP) — "You are having WHAT with WHOM today?" my wife demanded, with a touch of shrillness in her voice.

"Lunch," I said. "With Dr. Kinsey. Alfred C. Kinsey, that is. The one who wrote the—"

"I know what he wrote!" my wife said. "And why, may I ask, are you having lunch with Dr. Kinsey?"

"Oh, scientific curiosity"

"Hah!"

"In fact," I said, "the boss told me to have lunch with him"

"Hmmmh. Well, now, won't that be cozy—just you and Dr. Kinsey! I wonder what in the world you will find to talk about."

"Oh, we won't be alone," I said. "The girls will be there."

"The girls!"

"Uh-huh. He's speaking at the Women's National Press Club"

"This," said my wife, "gets more and more interesting. I never before realized that you were a member of the Women's National Press Club. Does Dr. Kinsey know about it?"

"Look," I said, "the ladies are inviting some male guests, see? And I'm one of them, see? As a working reporter. Is everything clear now?"

"I'll bet you complained to high heaven about that assignment," my wife said. "I'll bet you threatened to resign."

"A reporter," I intoned, "goes where the news is."

"And," said my wife, a trifle acidly, "where the women are. To say nothing of Dr. Kinsey. Tell me, what will the good doctor do? Read selected passages from his book?"

"Oh," I said, "I expect he'll give a dry little talk on statistics or something. Then there'll be questions—"

"Questions! You mean he's going to interview those women right there in front of everybody!"

"If I know the members of the Women's National Press Club," I said, "Dr. Kinsey won't be able to get a question in edgewise. They do the asking, those girls."

"Hmmm. Will you get to ask a question!"

"If I can get the floor, which I doubt. Why? Is there something you want me to find out from Dr. Kinsey?"

"There is," said my wife firmly "It's about all those women he's already interviewed Ask him if he has ever read that old poem about women, the one that goes:

"O dreamy eyes,

"They tell sweet lies of paradise,

"And in those eyes the love-light lies

"And lies—and lies—and lies!"

Juin Demands Details on U.S. Atom Weapons

PARIS (AP)—French Marshal Alphone Juin, NATO's commander-in-chief in central Europe, wants the United States to give its European allies information on its new atomic weapons.

Speaking to correspondents at SHAPE (Supreme Headuarters Allied Powers in Europe), Juin said yesterday:

"What the military people want to know is the effect of the shell, of the new weapon, and if it can be kept at their disposition." He declared the United States need not disclose any bomb manufacturing secrets.

The marshal—France's top soldier—indicated, however, that he got some sort of fill-in on most atomic developments

"Personally, not much is hidden from me," he said. "But there is still a little feeling of constraint, even so."

Tests Disclose 30% Of Private Wells in Area Are Polluted

Water samples taken by the Marion County Department of Health show that about 30 per cent of the individual wells or water supplies in the county are polluted to a point where they are unsafe for human consumption.

Ralph H. Augenstein, county sanitarian, said this is an alarmingly high rate. He attributed this situation to a lack of thought given to protecting the water source from drainage, citing many instances of unprotected well tops existing in the county.

Augenstein takes water samples at the request of county residents and sends them to the state health department laboratory in Columbus where they are tested. Results are then sent to the Marion County Health Department from where they are forwarded to the individuals requesting the testing.

Big Three Ask 4-Power Talks Over Germany

LONDON (AP)—The Big Three Allies called on Russia today to join an early four-power conference of foreign ministers on the future of Germany and Austria.

Identical notes were sent by the United States, Britain and France suggesting the high level talks to work out:

1. Arrangements for holding free Germany-wide elections as an essential first step toward restoring German unity and agreeing on a final German peace settlement.

2. Final agreement on the long-promised Austrian treaty of independence which Russia has been stalling.

Reject Soviet Proposal

Informants said the Allied notes rejected Soviet Russia's proposal to set up a provisional all-German government which would participate in a German peace conference to be held within six months. The Soviets suggested also that free Germany - wide elections should follow the peace conference.

The American, British and French notes made it clear the Allies believe Soviet proposals for holding elections after a peace settlement put the cart before the horse.

Propose Swiss Site

The informants said the Allies proposed the ministers meet about mid-October in Switzerland. The lakeside town of Lugano near the Italian-Swiss frontier is understood to have been suggested as a meeting place.

The Allies were answering a series of Soviet communications on Germany and Austria received during August.

The call for four-power talks comes only four days before West Germany goes to the polls in a vital general election.

The Russian proposals on Germany were generally interpreted by Western diplomats as designed in part to influence voting in the West German elections against the parties behind Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

As for Austria, the Russians last weekend turned down an invitation to sit in on a lower-level conference of four-power deputy foreign ministers to draft a treaty.

State Seeks Title To Marion School

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Welfare Director John H. Lamneck has asked the state controlling board to release a legislative appropriation of $625,000 to purchase clear title from the federal government of the Marion Training School site.

The 1,243-acre tract, formerly used by the government for the Scioto Ordnance plant near Marion, was deeded to the state Jan. 16, 1948. However, at that time the government imposed certain restrictions as to use of the land. Legislative moves to remove these restrictions failed.

Ohio will get a clear title by paying some $272,848, after permitting the government to remove buildings valued at $389,000. Director Lamneck said these buildings are of only a temporary nature and would be of little use to the welfare department. He asked that the balance of the fund appropriated be used for replacing the present temporary structures.

Marion Teachers Attend 2-Day Workshop at State Street School

Some 176 Marion school teachers and administrators registered for the two-day summer workshop held at State Street Junior High School Tuesday and today. The program is scheduled to draw to a close tonight with a dinner at 6 p.m. and an address by Dr. C. B. Allen of Western Reserve University.

Highlight of Tuesday's session was a panel discussion with city school superintendent Lester L. Dickey serving as moderator. Topic of the discussion was "What Shall We Teach?". Serving on the panel were Miss Phila Humphreys, elementary supervisor of the State Department of Education, Ed Hoon, field representative of the Ohio Education Association at Columbus, Mrs. Betty McCombs, president of the PTA city council, Charles Harmon, member of the Marion Board of Education, Murray Leeper, a Harding High School student, and Cecil Gabler, principal of the new Harding High School.

Following the noon luncheon, the teachers separated into work groups in individual classrooms. Consultants for various groups included: language arts, Miss Humphreys and Miss Reba Robinson of the Mansfield public schools; social studies, Miss Mildred McFarland of the Shaker Heights public schools and Granville Hammond of Warren public schools; science, Miss Grace Stewart of Tuscarawas County schools; arithmetic - mathematics, Mrs. Oneita Lizotte of the Medina County schools; arts and crafts, Miss Jeanne Orr of Ohio State University and E. H. Blaine of Logan County schools; social skills, Mrs. Anne Flood of Youngstown schools and Ed Hoon of the Ohio Education Association; evaluation - reporting to parents, John Niederhauser of Ohio State University and Miss Sylvia Todd of Lakewood schools.

The Tuesday conference was closed with a dinner and an address by Dr. Harold Alberty of Ohio State University, whose topic was "Why Don't We Put into School Practice the Best That We Know." Special music was provided by Homer Huffman, director of instrumental music at Harding High School, who offered a violin solo and George Lane, who furnished piano and cello music.

A summary of the two-day workshop will follow the dinner meeting tonight.

Dentist Drills, Kills Bear By Shot From .22 Rifle

LANSING, Mich. (UP) — Dr. Frank P. Noyes, a retired dentist, refused to panic when a 350-pound bear stomped into his camp and caught him without his high-powered rifle.

Noyes grabbed up his .22, the only gun available, and fired at the bear in an effort to frighten it off. Instead, the animal fell dead.

A 21-year-old serviceman and a Lebanon woman were injured when their car went out of control on U. S. Route 41, two and a half miles south of Cardington, and overturned.

The accident occurred about 7:15 a.m. Tuesday, according to investigating state highway patrolmen, when the Talbott car went out of control, veered off the right side of the highway and finally crashed off the left side, overturning at the edge of the roadway. The car was demolished.

Two Accidents in City

Two no-injury accidents were reported to city police during the last 24 hours. Both involved front end collisions, one with a parked car, the other with a stopped car.

The parked car which was damaged belonged to S. J. Napoli of 430 Windsor St. It was parked in front of 125 Cayuga St. when struck by a car driven by Harlan R. McGinniss, 20, of 726 Cayuga St. at 1:25 Tuesday afternoon.

Napoli's car was damaged in the left front fender and grill and had to be towed from the scene of the accident. The car driven by McGinniss was damaged in the left front fender and headlight, but he was able to drive it after the accident.

At 10:21 Tuesday morning, the car driven by Russell E. Potter, 53, of 238 E. Washington Ave. was damaged in a mixup in front of 119 W. Church St.

Potter told police he was stopped at that location when hit by a car driven by Reuben Crisp, 20, of 149 Campbell St. Crisp's car was damaged in the right front fender, while the left front fender and headlight of Potter's car were damaged.

Crisp told investigating officers he was going about 15 miles an hour when the accident happened.

Braves Move Onto Dodger Field Tonight

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

The Milwaukee Braves get a last look tonight at the home of the team they couldn't beat for the National League pennant.

The Brooklyn Dodgers represent the one jinx the Braves failed to shake in their move from Boston, where they languished in seventh place a year ago.

With four meetings remaining—two in Brooklyn tonight and tomorrow and two in Milwaukee later this month—the Dodgers lead the Braves 12-6 for the season. Last year when the Braves performed out of Boston the Dodgers beat them 18 times.

Milwaukee has clinched its season's series with every other team except the St. Louis Cardinals and they lead the Redbirds 10-6.

At the moment Brooklyn holds its fattest margin of the season over the Braves—11 games—and has a theoretical chance to wrap up the flag by the end of the Labor Day double-headers, 20 days before the season ends. The Dodgers didn't make it last year until five days from the finish.

Yesterday Brooklyn ended a perfect home season against the Cardinals—11 victories in 11 games—with a 12-5 decision despite five St. Louis home runs. New York shaded Chicago 10-9 in the only other National League action.

The New York Yankees moved 9½ games in front of faltering Chicago after tripping the White Sox 3-2 at Chicago. Cleveland resumed its winning ways at the expense of the Boston Red Sox 13-3 and Detroit defeated Philadelphia 7-5. St. Louis and Washington weren't scheduled. The third place Indians are within a game of the White Sox and 10½ behind New York.

The St. Louis home runs at Brooklyn were all off Preacher Roe, who survived only because his mates backed him with a 17-hit assault. The record for home runs off one pitcher in a game is six. Steve Bilko hit two, Stan Musial, Harry Elliott and Rip Repulski one each. The outburst ran the Cards' homer total for the year to 120, a club record.

Sal Maglie, onetime ace of the Giants, failed again against the Cubs but the New Yorkers came from behind and won in the eighth with a gift run. Jim Rhodes walked, moved to third on a throwing error and scored after an outfield fly. Ralph Kiner, Roy Smalley and Bubba Church hit homers in the losing Chicago cause.

Mickey Mantle's 17th homer proved the margin of difference for the Yankees over the White Sox. For a brief spell it looked as if the Chicagoans were going to come up with one of their patented late-inning rallies in the seventh but they could score only one run after loading the bases with none out.

Sam Mele opened with a single and moved to third on Connie Ryan's double. Johnny Sain replaced Whitey Ford and walked Ferris Fain. Sherm Lollar hit to third baseman Gil McDougald, who fumbled the ball but recovered in time to get a force out. Billy Martin, trying for a double play, threw Jim Rivera's grounder into left field and Fain tried to score from second base. But McDougald recovered the ball and nipped Fain at the plate. Virgil Trucks fouled out to end the threat.

The loss was Trucks' seventh against 18 victories. Ford got credit for his 16th triumph. He's lost five.

Early Wynn struck out 10 in winning his 16th game for Cleveland. The 13-hit Indian attack included Al Rosen's 36th home run.

Gus Zernial of Philadelphia passed Rosen with a pair of homers, his 36th and 37th off Detroit's Ned Garver. Fine relief work by Ray Herbert silenced the A's from the fifth on and the Tigers came from behind to win.

Toledo, Columbus In Race for Ohio Softball Crown

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Toledo, beaten last night, 6-4, by Columbus, meets the capital city team tonight for the Ohio amateur softball championship.

If Toledo wins the game, another will decide the title in the double-elimination tournament. The champ advances to the regional tournament in Washington Court House.

The match tonight shapes up as a close one. It took unbeaten Columbus 11 innings to polish off the Lucas County boys last night.

Canton and North Lewisburg were eliminated from the tourney last night. The North Lewisburg squad ousted Canton, 7-1, in the first game of the night.

But, in turn, North Lewisburg was thrown out of the running by Toledo, 2-1.

Redlegs, Giants Open 2-Game Series Today

NEW YORK (AP)—If the sixth-place Cincinnati Redlegs hope to move up a notch in the National League standings, they should sweep the two-game series they open today with the New York Giants.

Leo Durocher's Giants are five full frames ahead of the Cincinnati club. Redleg victories would cut that to three.

Probable pitchers this afternoon are Bud Podbielan (5-14) or Ken Raffensberger (7-12) for the Redlegs against Reuben Gomez (12-7), the Puerto Rican screwballer.

The Redlegs return to Crosley Field Friday for a twilight-night doubleheader against the Chicago Cubs. Then both teams move on to the Windy City for a three-game series over the weekend.

OSU Grid Practice Sessions Started, Halfback Benched

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State University's football team starts practice today without Jerry Harkrader of Middletown, highly-touted halfback.

The 180-pound sophomore was a sure bet for the starting left halfback job. He reported yesterday with a knee injury, and team physicians decided to keep him from all contact work for two or three weeks.

Harkrader's knee was injured in the spring intrasquad game. It was reinjured last week when he worked out with the Middletown High School team.

Harkrader has been publicized as the best halfback prospect at Ohio State since Vic Janowicz.

Good Harding Grid Tickets Still Available

Choice seats for Harding High School football home games are still available, J. H. Smith, high school treasurer, announced today.

He said between 450 and 500 season tickets for home games have been reserved during the past two weeks but that only half the people have been heard from.

Tickets may be reserved by calling Smith at Harding High School, 2-0235. Cost of the tickets are $3 75 for adults and $1 75 for students.

The home games are with Bowling Green, Sept. 25, Fostoria, Oct. 9; Columbus Central, Oct. 16; and Fremont Ross, Nov. 6.

Harding's actual season is opened Sept. 18 at Columbus West, although a preview game with Newark High School is scheduled at the stadium Sept. 12. Admission to this game is not included in the season tickets.

El Salvador is the most densely populated nation on the American mainland.

Colonels Win 5-2 Over Minneapolis, Gain on Toledo Sox

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Louisville's Colonels climbed to within one-half game of the American Association - leading Toledo Sox last night with a 5-2 win over Minneapolis.

Ken Holcombe went all the way for the pitching victory, hurling a five-hitter.

In other games, Kansas City beat St. Paul 4-3, and Indianapolis won a doubleheader from Columbus, 3-2 and 3-0. League-leading Toledo and Charleston were idle.

8 Golfers Qualify As Ohio Players in National Tourney

By The Associated Press

Seven Ohioans and a Kentuckian whose golf game was as hot as the weather qualified Tuesday to participate in the National Amateur Golf tournament starting Sept. 14 in Oklahoma City.

A quartet of swingers was selected at Cincinnati and another foursome at Cleveland.

Gay Brewer Jr., 21 - year - old Lexington, Ky., lad had a sparkling 71-69—104, even par, to lead the Cincinnati section. At the Cleveland qualifier, players from Youngstown's Tippecanoe Country Club grabbed off three of the four northern Ohio berths.

Ohio amateur kingpin Arnold Palmer of Cleveland won a spot in the Oklahoma City tournament with a 77-70—147.

Another Buckeye, ex-Ohio State star Tom Nieporte of Cincinnati made the tournament shooting in the Chicago qualifier. He had a 70-82—152.

Coach Issues Call To Grid Candidates

A call for football candidates for the Edison and Eber Baker Junior High School squads was issued today by George Whitehead, Edison coach.

All boys wishing to play on either team are to report to whichever school they will attend either tomorrow or Friday, he said.

Physical examinations will be given at the schools at these times and each candidate must also have permission of their parents before they may join the football squads, Whitehead said.

Yanks, Aussies Top Field of 16 In Tennis Race

By WILL GRIMSLEY

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP)—If everything goes according to form—and there appears no earthly reason it shouldn't—by sunset tonight this will be the lineup in the men's singles division of the National Tennis Championships:

Nine Americans.
Four Australians.
Two Danes.
One Swede.

That totals 16, the number to which the men's field will be reduced after the fifth day of action at the West Side Tennis Club. It also means the tournament actually won't get started until tomorrow.

It looks like a breeze into the fourth round for the seeded favorites, who so far have lost only two of their original number.

The top-ranked domestic choice, Wimbledon champion Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, plays Grant Golden of Wilmette, Ill., 15th ranked nationally. His Davis Cup teammate, Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, seeded No. 2, has a date with Seth Peterson Jr., of San Francisco.

Although Seixas is favoring a bad leg, wrenched at Newport, R I, and Trabert still hasn't reached top form after a hitch in the Navy, both are expected to push forward with no untoward incident.

Australia's one-two punch—the 18-year-olds Ken Rosewall and Lewis Hoad—also is expected to stay alive without undergoing too much pressure. Rosewall meets Joaquin Reyes of Mexico while Hoad engages Joe Davis, a Nashville, Tenn., businessman who is now a more or less weekend player.

Mujica, Salcone Fight To Draw in Benefit Bout

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Larry Mujica, 133½, Brooklyn, and Joe Salcone, 129, Warren, Ohio, battled to an 8-round draw last night in the main event of a benefit show which raised about $6,000 for the family of a fighter who died after he was knocked out Aug. 18.

A crowd of 2,768 paid $8,992 to see the program in Miami Beach Auditorium.

After deducting expenses, promoter Chris Dundee estimated about $5,000 would go to the widow and two children of Marine S. Sgt. Robert L. Lee, 23. Another $1,002 was collected when a hat was passed.

MIDDLEWEIGHT FIGHT TONITE

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Ernie Durando of Bayonne, N J, trying to muscle his way back into the middleweight division's top 10, takes on favored Randy Sandy of New York in a scheduled 10-round boxing bout tonight. The bout in the 160-pound class will be telecast nationally beginning at 9 p.m. EST.

Carl's Trounce Plumbers For Commercial Crown

Carls Auto Parts blasted the Little World Series ambitions of the K. & W. Plumbers at Garfield Park Tuesday evening by pounding out a close 3-1 win in the second round Commercial League title game.

Carl's victory moved them into a play-off game with Smitty's All Stars who annexed the first round championship with an undefeated record. Winner of the League play-off next Tuesday evening at Garfield Park will represent the Commercial League in the City Championship or Little World Series.

Sonny Taylor of Carl's Auto Parts and Bud England staged an expected pitchers duel in last night's contest. England gave up five hits while Taylor, who received credit for the win allowed a total of six singles. K. & W. broke the ice in the first frame when Charlie Rizzo scored on an error after he had reached the sacks on a fielder's choice. Carl's came back in the third frame to score two runs by bunching three hits and an error. Willie Jones, Bob Smith, Howard Grubbs and Jim Frank reached the basepaths during the third inning uprising with Jones and Smith scoring later the tieing and winning runs. Jones added an insurance run in the fourth frame after he had doubled with one out in the inning.

Sonny Taylor, after allowing one run in the first inning blanked the K. & W. hitting array throughout the remaining six innings of play. He weakened in the final inning, allowing successive singles to England and Thacker with one out but succeeded in getting out of trouble as Rizzo and Walters both popped out to first to end the game.

Sluggers in Close Race For AL Home Run Crown

CLEVELAND (AP) — Husky Al Rosen of the Cleveland Indians and Gus Zernial of Philadelphia put their home run battle on a face-to-face basis tonight when the Tribe opens a two-game series against the Athletics.

Rosen smashed his 36th homer while the Indians were beating the Boston Red Sox, 13-3, yesterday, and Zernial hit 36th and 37th the same day in Detroit to pass Rosen and lead the league.

Both men are seeking the league homer crown for the second time. Rosen won it as a rookie in 1950 with 37 and Zernial hit 33 to come out on top in 1951.

Last year, Larry Doby of the Indians walked off with the honors when he sent 32 balls over the fence. Zernial had 29 and Rosen 28

Minus Ted Williams, who stayed on the sidelines to nurse his sore legs, the Red Sox were easy meat for the Tribesmen yesterday.

Rosen drove in three runs with his homer and a single, and Doby accounted for a pair with two singles and a double. Two singles and a double by Wally Westlake knocked in three more runs.

Early Wynn coasted to his 16th victory, striking out 10 and allowing eight hits in the eight innings he pitched. With the temperature standing at 100 degrees, manager Al Lopez gave him a rest in the final inning.

The victory gave the Tribe a 3-1 edge in their series with the Red Sox and put them within one game of the second place Chicago White Sox. The White Sox arrive here Friday night for a three - game battle.

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market extended its recovery movement today into a second session.

Yesterday's upturn continued today with gains that ran to between 1 and 3 points at the outside. Losses were small and scattered.

The rising prices failed to bring out any great demand. Trading was at a pace a little greater than a million shares for the entire day.

Railroads displayed some of the better gains. Also higher were steels, motors, utilities, oils, coppers, chemicals, aircrafts, and radio-televisions.

Higher stocks included U. S. Steel, New York Central, Southern California Edison, General Motors, DuPont, Illinois Central, and International Paper.

Brazil Speeds Up Petroleum Search

RIO DE JANEIRO (UP)—While the Chamber of Deputies debated whether foreign capital should be permitted to take part in the search for oil, Brazil's National Petroleum Council reported increased activity.

The council said that in the first three months of this year it started drilling operations at 21 sites, completed 18 wells and struck oil in 16 of them.

In the same period of 1952, the Council said, 13 wells were started, and 12 completed. Ten were producers.

The council said that in all of 1952, it completed 64 wells, struck oil in 44 of them, and gas in two. During 1951 the council completed 34 wells. Nineteen produced oil, four gas.

USE PAINT BRUSH PROPERLY

When using a brush to apply paint, remember that paint should be applied from the ends of the bristle. If the sides are used, the paint is not applied satisfactorily and the brush is worn out more rapidly. Brushes should be reversed at frequent intervals so they will wear down evenly. A free, easy stroke should be cultivated. Short, jerky strokes result in an uneven surface. There is, however, such a thing as stretching the stroke too far. This also results in an uneven painted surface.
